Brief Sketches of Their Lives, Which Should Be An Inspiration to All; Opportunities In Portsmouth for the Hard-working, Conscientious Young Man Just As Good As Anywhere Else In The World

WILLIAM M. BRIGGS

Thirty-five years of service with the same company is the record of W. M. Briggs recently retired president of the Gilbert Grocery Co.

William M. Briggs was born in Portsmouth, December 5, 1857. He attended the school in Clay township until ten years of age when his family moved to Missouri. There Mr. Briggs completed his education, studied law and was admitted to the bar. At the age of 21 he returned to Portsmouth to practice law and later was in partnership with Judge F. C. Searl. In 1883 he abandoned the law practice and became shipping clerk for M. B. Gilbert. Five years later he accepted a position as traveling salesman for the Reid Murdock Co. of Chicago with Kansas for his territory, returning to Portsmouth, January 1st, 1895 to take a similar position with the M. B. Gilbert Co. When this firm was incorporated in 1900, under the name of the Gilbert Grocery Co. Mr. Briggs became one of the stockholders. Three years after the incorporation he was called in off the road and made treasurer of the company and assistant in the credit department. In 1915 Mr. Briggs was elected president of the company and held that position for nine years, until he retired from active business life the first of this year.

Mr. Briggs is secretary of the board of trustees of the Second Presbyterian church, member of the Masons, Knights Templar, Kiwanis Club, and Chamber of Commerce. He served actively on the Food Conservative Committee of Scioto county during the World War.

Mr. and Mrs. Briggs have two sons, Warren and Maurice, both of whom are married and live in Cleveland, Ohio.

During the time that Mr. Briggs has been located here he has seen Portsmouth grow from a mere village with no paved streets to a substantial city. He traces the city's growth from the time when public spirited citizens opened up what was known as the Board of Trade addition in the east end of the town, and encouraged industries to operate there. "Since that time the growth has been steady and continuous, and all indications point to proportionate expansion in the future," he says.

"Portsmouth's location at the convergence of the ore and coal lands, her accessibility for manufacturing purposes, the possibilities of development of river transportation, all are factors in the future greatness of Portsmouth," he says. "There are opportunities here for young men and women in practically every field of endeavor. It is not the location that makes the successful business man or woman; it is perseverance and hard work."

Dry Sleuth And Klan In Control Of Herrin

HERRIN, ILL., February 11.—(By the United Press)—With two automatics strapped about his waist and several hundred Ku Klux Klansmen under his orders, Glenn Young dominated Herrin today.

Two silent Klansmen with machine guns were stationed in front of the city hall where Young established himself, after assuming the job of Chief of Police.

George Gallian, arrested on Young's orders in connection with a murder charge growing out of recent rioting, was held a prisoner in the basement of the same building.

Young refused to turn him over to Acting Sheriff Coroner William McCowan.

Young's Klansmen and seven companies of state troops quartered here, are patrolling the city separately without recognizing each other.

Many miners are loafing about the streets today.

They were talking about troops and Young—mostly Young.

The troops have been called out six times in the past fifty years but only once has there been a Glenn Young.

HERRIN, ILL., February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Former Mayor A. T. Pace was arrested today on a warrant charging murder after he had been sworn in as foreman of the coroner's jury to investigate the killing Friday night of Constable Caesar Cagle, "dry" raid leader. Pace was charged with complicity in Cagle's death.

The warrant for Pace's arrest was sworn out by S. Glenn Young, dry worker and paid employe of the Ku Klux Klan, who has set up a defacto municipal government since the arrival of the state troops who were sent here as a result of the near riot Friday night between "wets" and "drys".

HERRIN, ILL., February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Turbulent Williamson county, scene two years ago of the massacre of more than a score of non-union coal miners, and lately of an internecine warfare between "dry" Ku Klux Klan and "wet" anti-Ku Klux Klan factions, today faces the prospect of a declaration of martial law and a strike of approximately 4,000 bituminous miners employed in twenty-seven mines.

It is believed generally that with the arrival of additional National Guardsmen, the county's law enforcement will pass into the hands of the military instead of having them act as now under the direction of Coroner W. H. McCowan, held to be the only county offi-

Convicts Riot; Two Prison Officers Shot To Death

PITTSBURGH, February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Two prison officers were shot to death and a number of convicts were wounded more or less seriously today in a riot at the Western penitentiary. After an hour's fight, during which riot guns, tear gas bombs, clubs and bricks were used, the prison guards, assisted by the county detective and Pittsburgh police forces, succeeded in quelling the disturbance which started when the convicts used explosives in an effort to dynamite their way to freedom. No prisoners escaped.

The dead are: William Pieffer, assistant deputy warden; J. A. Cox, an overseer.

Warden J. Engan reported that the plot was born in the minds of four or five "bad men" recently transferred to the prison here from the Eastern Penitentiary to be disciplined. He added that he believed the plot was engineered by a quartet of convicts known as "the four horsemen." They had help from the outside, the warden declared. Prisoners, numbering more than 1,000, had just breakfasted and were about to go to their tasks in the work shops when the blast riped the main gates and a section of the wall, rocked the entire Woods Run district, shattered windows and caused residents to flee from their homes.

GRIFFIS GIVEN A HERO'S WELCOME

NEW YORK, February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Corliss Hooven Griffis, of Hamilton, Ohio, who was released recently from prison in Mosbach, Germany, after serving part of a sentence for complicity in a plot to kidnap Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, American draft evader, arrived home today on the Albert Ballin and was given a reception at city hall.

Griffis' parents with a party of friends and representatives of the American Legion went down the bay on the City Tug Macom to meet him. They had planned to take him off the steamer and bring him to the Battery aboard the tug, but through a misunderstanding, the Albert Ballin pulled in her gang plank when half the welcoming committee was aboard, leaving most of the members on the Macom and Griffis himself on the liner.

When the Albert Ballin reached her pier, Griffis was met by several members of the reception committee and they escorted him to the city hall.

McADOO SAYS HE ACTED IN PERFECT GOOD FAITH

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—In an atmosphere surcharged with political tension, William G. McAdoo faced the senate oil committee today and explained his connections with the Doheny interests.

At the very outset he read a prepared statement charging that had he not "been prominently mentioned in connection with high office," his name never would have been brought into the inquiry. He declared he had acted in perfect good faith in accepting a retainer fee as counsel for Doheny after he left the cabinet, and in the course of a long cross examination re-asserted forcibly over and over his assertions that the attack made on him had been purely political.

"I conceive that the matter is wholly irrelevant to the subject matter of your inquiry," he said in conclusion, "but I have been willing to come here and give these facts for such use and for such value as they may have in the pursuit of your investigation."

When he appeared in the committee room, accompanied by David Rockwell, of Ohio, manager of his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination, he was greted with a burst of applause which continued for a minute or more. He smiled and bowed as he made his way to a seat to await the call of the committee. Many members of the senate and house mingled with the crowd.

After being sworn, Mr. McAdoo seated himself under a battery of cameras, adjusted his glasses and read a prepared statement.

Questioned by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, Mr. McAdoo said he resigned as secretary of the treasury on December 16, 1918, and gave up the post of director general of the railways on January 11, 1919.

After a three months' rest in California, he entered the law firm of Cotton and Franklin in accordance with an agreement previously made. He began service with Doheny, November 30, 1919, he said.

BAFFLED IN MURDER CASE

NEW YORK, February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—With the body of Louise Lawson on the way to her home in Walnut Springs, Texas, the police today continued efforts to establish the identity of two men who gained entrance to her apartment last Friday when she was strangled in bed.

The police now are working on the theory that the murderers were the same two who, claiming to be bootleggers, were refused admittance by the young woman a month ago.

Miss Charlotte Wakefield, friend of the dead girl, told police of last month's visit, which, she said, had apparently disturbed Miss Lawson. The men had shouted through the closed door that they were bringing a case of gin, sent by friends. Miss Lawson had a girl visitor at the time and did not admit the pair, but told them she was not expecting liquor and would not receive it.

The police believe it possible the men, pretended bootleggers at that time, contemplated robbing Miss Lawson of her many jewels. Disconcerted by the presence of a visitor, it is thought they may have watched the girl's movements and finally forced an entrance on the same pretext, when she was alone.

RIOT IN JAVA; 29 ARE KILLED

BATAVIA, JAVA, February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—One Dutch police officer and twenty-seven native religious fanatics were killed, and many others wounded in a riot yesterday at Tangerang, near Weltvreden.

The trouble began when forty-one fanatics armed with swords and knives declared they wished to proclaim a new kingdom of Mount Gedeh.

Native police under the direction of Dutch police officials attempted to disarm the fanatics and severe fighting occurred before the police gained the upper hand.

Drowns In Lake

AKRON, O., February 11.—Irene Buckaner, 19, of Cuyahoga Falls, was drowned at 8 o'clock this morning in the East Reservoir, near Akron, when a car in which she and four others were riding, skidded and plunged into the lake. The others were rescued. The lake was covered with only a thin coating of ice.

CLEAN GOVERNMENT TO BE PARAMOUNT ISSUE OF THE 1924 POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1924.)

WASHINGTON, February 11.—Clean government will be the paramount issue of the 1924 campaign.

Taxation has been overshadowed. The soldier bonus will be disposed of by a compromise. The Democrats will take the offensive and ask the country to return them to power on the ground that their record of administration was not sullied by any misuse of power.

The air is full of rumors and everywhere one goes there are whispers all tending to incriminate persons of prominence with a misconception of their personal relationship to the positions they hold. If half the stories which are being talked about are ever brought out under oath before the Senate Investigation Committee, the sensations of the past three weeks will be tame compared with the disclosures to be made.

Boiled down to fundamentals, the big question is who in the government knew ahead of time about the making of the oil leases? Who tipped off friends so that operations in the stock market might be profitable? Who in the government is engaged in stock market speculation based upon the Civil War Telegrapher Dies at Newport, Ky.

NEWPORT, KY., February 11.—Robert D. E. Rowe, Civil War military telegrapher, is dead here as the result of a stroke of paralysis suffered four years ago. Following the war, he became manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company at Wheeling and later held similar positions at Pittsburgh and Oil City. In the Pittsburgh office, Mr. Rowe worked with Thomas A. Edison and became acquainted with Andrew Carnegie, who then was a messenger boy. He kept up a correspondence with both these eminent men. He is survived by a widow and two sons, one of whom, Charles E. Rowe, is assistant to the chief engineer of the Pennsylvania company at Pittsburgh.

TEXT OF McADOO'S STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury and candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, emphasized before the senate oil committee today that his professional relations with E. L. Doheny, recently terminated, were "in good faith" and had nothing to do with the leasing of naval oil reserves.

Appearing at his own request because of testimony given by Mr. Doheny as to his employment in connection with Mexican oil matters, Mr. McAdoo declared:

"I think it may fairly be presumed that if my name was not prominently mentioned in connection with high office, my private practice as a lawyer would be of no interest to this committee or to the public."

Asserting that "the faith of the people in their own government is shaken," because of the developments in the oil inquiry, he declared, "this question transcends political parties and partisan considerations" and that "the first duty, the imperative duty of the hour, is mercilessly to uncover and to bring to public view and scorn and punishment every one who has betrayed the public trust or who has been guilty of wrong doing in this humiliating and dangerous affair."

"It would be a crime against the public," he said, "if the dragging of innocent people into the affair should divert attention from the guilty to prevent the discovery of those who have betrayed the public interest."

Had Nothing To Do With Leases

His statement, which was in the nature of an elaboration of his recent letter to Chairman Lenroot of the committee, dealing with his services as counsel to the Doheny companies follows:

"I am informed by your chairman that already there has been inserted in the record the letter I addressed to him on February 7, 1924, setting forth in detail the facts concerning the professional services rendered by my former law firm in New York, Messrs. McAdoo, Cotton and Franklin, and subsequently by myself in Los Angeles in connection with the Mexican properties of Mr.

MONTH OF DEBATE AHEAD OF INCOME TAX BILL

WASHINGTON, February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—The revenue bill was formally reported to the house today by the ways and means committee which had been under consideration since the opening of congress. The measure will be taken up for consideration on Thursday with about a month of debate in prospect before it will be passed.

The bill as reported by Chairman Green, provides for complete revision of the federal taxes and a 25 per cent reduction in the 1923 personal income taxes payable this year. Three other reports were made, however, the differences centering on the income rates with particular reference to the surtax schedule, which was reported on the lines recommended by Secretary Mellon.

Eleven Republicans submitted one of the additional reports arguing vigorously for their 25 per cent surtax maximum as did the chairman, who has openly supported a maximum rate of 35 per cent.

Representative Frear, of Wisconsin, Republican insurgent, submitted a separate report, arguing for retention of the present surtax maximum of fifty per cent and a greater cut in the normal taxes.

The eleven Democratic members of the committee signed the other report which places the surtax maximum at 44 per cent and calls for greater cuts in the normal income tax rates than provided for in the Mellon schedules.

Obregonists Score Victory

VERA CRUZ, February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Mexican government troops arrived in Vera Cruz at 10:45 o'clock this morning, taking possession of the city after its recent evacuation by the rebels.

MEXICO CITY, February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Following closely upon their success on the Vera Cruz front, government forces have achieved an overwhelming victory in the west, defeating the rebels on the banks of the River Lerma, near Ocotlan, after eleven hours of furious fighting, a message from President Obregon states. Federals crossed the Lerma near its mouth on the eastern side of Lake Chapala, gaining a foothold for a continuation of their march against Guadalajara, the rebel stronghold to the northwest.

The rebels, President Obregon's message states, had fortified the right bank of the river, and aided by the natural advantages of the position, put up a stiff resistance. The government troops moved to the assault Saturday morning crossed the river over a pontoon bridge under heavy rebel fire and attacked the fortified heights.

The fighting continued until six o'clock at night when the rebels are declared to have hoisted a white flag and sounded bugles calling for a parley.

Heavy casualties were suffered by both sides, the federals losing 300 in killed and wounded.

Colored Couple Killed When Auto Hits Pole Near Wheelersburg

Two Others Badly Hurt; Ironton Man, Ashland Woman Are Victims; Had Spent Night At New Boston Dance

THE DEAD

Robert O'Brein, 35, colored, suffered fractured skull and internal injuries. Conducted O'Brein Hotel at 403 Seventh street, Ironton.

Nettie Hall, 19, colored, Ashland, Ky., suffered a fractured skull and burst blood vessel in right chest.

THE INJURED

L. H. Williams, 28, colored, fractured skull and internal injuries. He conducts a poolroom on Eighth street, Ironton.

Marian Taylor, 19, colored cook at King's Daughters' Hospital, Ashland, Ky., left knee fractured and multiple injuries about back, head and shoulders. Condition serious.

One man and one woman were so badly injured when an automobile which they occupied struck a telephone pole just this side of Wheelersburg early Sunday morning, that they died later in Hempstead hospital. Nettie Hall passed away at 2 p. m. Sunday and Robert O'Brein succumbed to his injuries at 5:45 Monday morning. Neither regained consciousness after the accident.

L. H. Williams and Marian Taylor were reported in a serious condition Monday, the latter's chances of recovery being remote, hospital attendants stated. She is conscious only at times.

Climax To Joy Ride

The two fatalities and the injuring of the other two occupants came as a climax to a joy ride the two couples figured in Saturday night and Sunday morning. Arriving at Taxi Bill Wray's place, Lakeside, New Boston, Saturday night at 11 o'clock the occupants of the machine stated that they had driven to that point from Ironton in 40 minutes, their mission being to attend a dance at Taxi Bill's place. After spending most of the night there, the colored couples climbed back into O'Brein's touring car and then it was that the fatal trip home was started with OBrein at the wheel. It is presumed that when he reached the sharp curve just this side of Wheelersburg he failed to observe it and drove straight ahead, the machine crashing head-on into a near by telephone pole.

Dr. Taylor Called

Dr. Martyn Taylor of Wheelersburg was called, but it was some little time after the accident occurred as the occupants of the machine were injured too badly to sound an alarm and it is believed two hours elapsed before Dr. Taylor arrived at the scene of the accident. Realizing the seriousness of the injuries of the victims, he summoned an ambulance and the victims were conveyed to Hempstead hospital. The Taylor woman was the only one who was conscious and she was not able to tell how the accident occurred. She says that O'Brein and the Hall woman occupied the front seat and she and Williams the back seat. She admitted that they had spent most of the night at a dance at Taxi Bill's place and that O'Brein was driving very rapidly when the accident occurred.

Coroner Called

Coroner Virgil Fowler was notified about the Hall woman's death and after her body was moved to the Daehler mortuary a postmortem examination showed that death was caused by bursted blood vessel in the right chest. Her skull was also fractured and she was bruised all over the body. Coroner Fowler also held a postmortem examination over O'Brein's body at the Daehler mortuary Monday. He found he had suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

It was learned that O'Brein and Williams met the two women in Ironton and started for this city after 11 o'clock. O'Brein being seen at his hotel there as late as 10:45. He for years conducted the O'Brein hotel for colored people at 403 Seventh street, Ironton. His wife, as soon as she heard of the accident, lost no time in reaching Hempstead hospital. The victim was one of the best known colored citizens in Ironton.

Conducts Poolroom

Williams resides at Tenth and Jefferson streets, Ironton, and conducts a poolroom there on Eighth street, between Adams and Jefferson. He has resided in Ironton for many years.

The Taylor woman has been employed as a cook in the King's Daughters' hospital in Ashland. Her father, William Taylor, lives at Twenty-Seventh street and Carter avenue, Ashland.

The Hall woman had been employed as a cook in the Clayton boarding house in Ashland. She is a daughter of Ivan Bradley Hall of Ashland.

Officials were busy today making an effort to verify the report that the fatal accident in which two persons lost their lives was the culmination of a drinking bout, several empty bottles being found in the car, which was wrecked beyond repair.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls in all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

Unable to Agree on Proper Surtax Rate

WASHINGTON, D. C. Feb. 11.—(Special)—Republican members of the House from Ohio have thus far experienced small success in their attempt to agree on a proper surtax rate on large incomes to which they can give unified support and will probably vote according to their individual beliefs when the tax reduction bill comes before the House next week.

Although Republican Floor Leader Nicholas Longworth, Congressman Charles C. Kearns, Ohio member of the Ways and Means committee, and Congressman James T. Begg, principal conciliator of the Buckeye delegation, are all in favor of a compromise with the Democratic side of the House on the surtax rate, several other members from Ohio are known to have expressed a determination to vote for the 25 per cent rate recommended by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to the end.

Longworth, Kearns and Begg are hopeful that a rate around 35 per cent may be agreed upon by the House and together with the majority of Ohio Republicans are willing to vote for that figure, but the alignment of the Democrats in favor of a 44 per cent rate is surprisingly firm, and a rate higher than 35 per cent may go into the measure before it passes the House.

Representative Begg has been making a careful check of the attitude of all Republicans in the House and has discovered that almost 100 G. O. P. members are against Secretary Mellon's plan to reduce surtaxes from 50 per cent, which is their present level to 25 per cent. Nevertheless the Republicans on the Ways and Means committee will report a bill containing the latter figure. Begg's poll indicates that it has no chance of passage, for the combined strength of Democrats and bolting Republicans will be more than enough to substitute some higher figure.

Two years ago Ohio Republicans in the House fought for lower surtaxes in the revenue bill of 1921, favoring a rate of 32 per cent and were apparently successful until they were overruled by a majority vote to concur with the Senate in the rate of 50 per cent, which it had approved.

At that time only Representatives Frank Murphy of Steubenville, Gahn of Cleveland, Speaks of Columbus, Cable of Lima and C. L. Knight of Akron, now a strong supporter of President Coolidge, favored the 50 per cent surtax rate at the outset and Representatives Begg, Moore, Morgan, Longworth and Thompson of the present membership supported the 32 per cent rate on incomes over $66,000. Of these Longworth and Burton alone supported the latter rate to the finish, the others agreeing to compromise with the Senate.

A similar situation is expected to develop regrading the present tax bill, with the two factions in the House instead of the House and Senate as the compromising wings. At the outset Representatives Begg, Longworth, Murphy, Cable, Kearns and Thompson among the Republicans of Ohio are expected to vote for any reasonal compromise surtax figure, but Representatives Burton, Foster, Stephens and Cooper will probably stand by the 25 per cent rate. The seven Ohio Democrats appear to be a unit in support of the high surtax rate of the Democratic tax reduction plan.

Ironton May Get New Freight Depot

A party of N. and W. officials were in the city looking over proposed locations for the new $100,000 freight depot to be erected in this city. Although no official announcement of the new depot has been made, recent issue of the railroad magazine stated that an appropriation of $800,000 had been made for the erection of two new freight depots, one at Roanoke and the other on the Columbus division.

It is understood that the blueprints and the plans of the new depot were prepared last year, and that it is to be a large brick building. The location has not been definitely decided, although it is said that it will be in the south side near the present depot. It is also understood that the new building will be on the east side of the main tracks, with approaches from Second street, which will eliminate the dangers of trucks and teams crossing the tracks as they have to do now, to get to the depot.—Ironton News.

THIEVES BUSY ON MARKET STREET

Sommer Bros. Store Robbed

The second Market street robbery in two days occurred Sunday night when a thief entered the Sommer Bros.' Hardware store and made off with several high-grade guns. When Charles inspected the store at about 10 oclock Sunday morning everything was inperfect condition. At about 7 o'clock last evening John Sommer went down to the store and found the gun case "jimmied" and part of the stock gone. Investigation disclosed the fact that the robbers had broken the latch in the Third street door, and then wrenched apart the padlock which fastened the door. Indications are that there was more than person involved. The police are making an effort to apprehend the thieves and recover the stolen property.

The would-be thief who attempted to burglarize the safe in the Stahler Drug store on Market street Saturday made use of tools which he found in the store. When Alton Porter opened the front door Saturday morning as part of his regular duty he found a young man working on the safe, screened from view of the street by the prescription case. Startled by the noise of the opening door the intruder grabbed a revolver which was kept in the store and dashed up the stairs. He fired two shots to ward off pursuit and then threw the revolver back down the stairway. He made his exit by means of the third story window and from their across neighboring roofs until he could get to the ground. It is believed that he entered in the same way. All indications point to the work of an amateur for the young man was endeavoring to open a massive steel safe with a hammer and a wood chisel. Failing to open the safe before he was apprehended he took nothing from the store.

SOCIETY

A surprise birthday celebration will be held in connection with the coffee social and regular Aid meeting of the First Evangelical church in the basement of the church on Wednesday afternoon. All members of the congregation and their friends are cordially invited to attend.

The W. M. A. of the U. B. Church will meet on Thursday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. J. Vail of 1248 Eighteenth street. The assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Charles May, Mrs. Clarence May and Mrs. James Boren. This will be the Thank Offering meeting and all members are urged to bring their offering to this meeting.

Kansas City Doctor Invents New Truss

New Discovery Heals Rupture Without An Operation

A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative efforts in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of Dr. Andrews, 634H Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and heals a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard gouging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, on which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of the Sun and Times who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good, without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today.—Advertisement.

The Kinsfolk Club will hold an all day meeting tomorrow at the home of Mrs. A. K. Wheeler, 2122 Eighteenth street.

The Hilltop W. C. T. U. will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. John Sowers on Lincoln street. A Frances Willard program will be given and all members are urged to be present.

Mrs. A. J. Weber and daughter Ruth of Vinton avenue and her sister, Mrs. J. H. Orthmeyer of Sciotoville are visiting their sister, Mrs. Joseph L. Barry of Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Eskind (Florence Bein), who were married last week, are now sojourning at Palm Beach, Florida. From there they will go to Miami and later to New York City, where they will spend a few days before taking up their residence in Nashville, Tenn., where Mr. Eskind is a prominent dry goods manufacturer.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at ten o'clock this morning in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Weeks, well known residents of Sciotoville, when their charming young daughter, Miss Clara Weeks became the bride of Mr. John Stockham of South Portsmouth. Rev. W. C. Brady, pastor of the Sciotoville M. E. church officiated, using the impressive ring service with only the members of the bride's family witnessing the ceremony. Miss Weeks was becomingly attired in a dark blue crepe gown with trimmings of gray and a smart spring hat and other accessories to correspond. Both are popular young shoeworkers and will make their home for the present with the bride's parents.

Fire Damages NewBoston Grocery

Fire, which broke out at 3 P. M. Sunday in M. G. Dailey's grocery on Rhodes and West avenues, New Boston, caused damage estimated at $200 by Mr. Dailey, covered by insurance. The fire started in the middle of the store among some brooms and paper and the blaze was burning briskly when the fire was discovered. The New Boston Company responded to an alarm and one line of hose soon had the fire under control. Chief Leedom sent the Gallia street company to the scene and the Hilltop company filled in at Gallia street. Mr. Dailey, who lives near his store was among the first to arrive there and asisted the firemen in putting out the blaze. He says there was no fire of any kind in the store and is at a loss to figure the origin of the blaze, which for a short time threatened to wipe out the store and the two story frame building it occupies.

NAME NEW CHIEF AT CATLETTSBURG

ASHLAND, Ky., Feb. 11.—Henry Hederick is chief of police of Catlettsburg. Hederick was sworn in at noon Saturday after a special meeting of the council was called by Mayor Wheeler. Hederick succeeds Allen Lambert, who has held the office since 1920.

Chief Hederick was elected in the last November election, but did not take office at the first of the year, along with the other police officers, as a temporary restraining order favoring Allen Lambert issued by the clerk of court, kept the city council from swearing Hederick in.

Circuit Judge W. C. Halbert passed on the injunction during the session of the Greenup circuit court, and Hederick was notified of the judge's decision through his attorney, H. S. Dinkle. Lambert claimed he had been elected for a four year term.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Colonel Holles, soldier and adventurer, returns to England, the land of his birth, when war is declared with Holland. He comes to lodge with Martha Quinn, hostess of the Paul's Head, in Paul's Yard, London.

The colonel secures an audience with his old friend, His Grace of Albemarle. The Duke receives the colonel cordially and tells him that real soldiers are greatly needed in the English army. Holles offers his services to his country and is warned by His Grace that the name of Randal Holles, father of the colonel, is on the warrant for the execution of the late king. Therefore it is dangerous for the colonel to secure an army commission. Holles returns to Mrs. Quinn's to rest and visions of a youthful love affair return to him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Nimbly as a cat he dropped to earth on the wall's hither side, and stood there half crouching, a smile on gray eyes. He was watching a girl gray eyes. He was watching a girl who—utterly unconscious of his presence—swept to and fro through the air on a swing that was formed of a single rope passed from one tree to another.

She was a child, no more; yet of a well-grown, lissom grace that deceived folk into giving her more than the bare fifteen years she counted to her age. Hers was no rose-and-lily complexion. She displayed the healthy tan that comes of a life lived in the open far away from cities. Yet one glance into the long-shaped deeply blue eyes that were the glory of her lovely little face sufficed to warn you that though rustic she was not simple. Here was one who possessed a full share of that feminine guile which is the heritage from Mother Eve to her favored daughters. If you were a man and wise, you would be most wary when she was most demure.

Swinging, her loosened brown hair streamed behind her as she flew forward, and tossed itself into a cloud about her face as she went back. And she sang as nearly as possible in rhythm with her swinging:

"Hey, young love! Ho, young love!
Where do you tarry?
While here I stay for you
Waiting to marry.
Hey, young love! Ho young . . . ."

The song ended in a scream. Unheard, unsuspected, the stripling had crept forward through the trees. At the top of her backward swing he had caught her about the waist in his strong young arms. There was a momentary flutter of two black legs amid an agitated cloud of petticoat, then the rope swung forward, and the nymph was left in the arms of her young satyr. But only for a moment. Out of that grip she broke in a fury—real or pretended—and came to earth breathless, with flushed cheeks and flashing eye.

"You give yourself strange liberties, young Randal," said she, and boxed his ears. "Why bade you there?"

". . . I thought you called me," said he, grinning, no whit abashed by either blow or look. "Come now, Nan. Confess it!"

"I called you? I?" She laughed, indignantly. "'Tis very likely! Oh, very likely!"

"You'll deny it, of course, being a woman in the making. But I heard you." And he quoted for her, singing:

"Hey, young love! Ho, young love!
Where do you tarry?"

"I was hiding on the other side of the wall. I came at once. And all I get for my pains and the risk to a fairly new pair of breeches is a blow and a denial."

"You may get more if you remain."

"I hope so. I had not come else."

"But it'll be as little to your liking."

"That's as it may be. Meanwhile there's this matter of a blow. Now a blow is a thing I take from nobody. For a man there is my sword . . ."

"Your sword!" She abandoned herself to laughter. "And you don't even own a penknife."

"Oh, yes I do. I own a sword. It was a gift from my father today—a birthday gift. I am nineteen today, Nan."

"How fast you grow! You'll be a man soon. And so your father has given you a sword?" She leaned against the bole of a tree, and surveyed him archly. "That was very rash of your father. You'll be cutting yourself, I know."

He smiled, but with a little less of his earlier assurance. But he made a fair recovery.

"You are straying from the point."

"The point of your sword, sweet sir?"

"The point of my discourse. It was concerning this matter of a blow. If you were a man I am afraid I should have to kill you. My honor would demand no less."

"With your sword?" she asked him innocently.

"With my sword, of course."

"Ugh. Jack the Giant-Killer in a cherry orchard! You must see you are out of place here. Get you gone, boy. I don't think I ever liked you, Randal. Now I'm sure of it. You're a bloody-minded fellow for all your tender years. What you'll be when you're a man . . . I daren't think."

He swallowed the taunt.

"And what you'll be when you're a woman is the thing I delight in thinking. We'll return to that. Meanwhile, this blow . . ."

"Oh, you're tiresome."

"You delay me. That is why. What I would do to a man who struck me I have told you."

"But you can't think I believe you."

This time he was not to be turned aside.

"The real question is what to do to a woman." He approached her. "When I look at you, one punishment only seems possible."

He took her by the shoulders in a grip of surprising firmness. There was sudden alarm in those eyes of hers that hitherto had been so mocking.

"Randal!" she cried out, guessing his purpose.

Undeterred he accomplished it. Having kissed her, he loosed his hold, and stood back for the explosion which from his knowledge of her he was led to expect. But no explosion came. She stood limply before him; all the raillery gone out of her, while slowly the color faded from her cheeks. Then it came flowing back in an all-suffusing flood, and there was a pathetic quiver at the corners of her mouth, a suspicious brightness in her drooping eyes.

"Why, Nan!" he cried, alarmed by phenomena so unexpected and unusual.

"Oh, why did you do that?" she cried on a sob.

"I've been wanting to do it this twelvemonth," said he simply. "And I shall want to do it again. Nan, dear, don't you know how much I love you? Don't you know without my telling you? Don't you?"

The fervent question chased away her trouble and summoned surprise to fill its place. A moment she stared at him, and her glance hardened. She began to show signs of recovery.

"The declaration should have preceded the . . . the . . . affront."

"But I love you, Nan! I've said so," he expostulated.

"You're too precocious, young Ran-

"NAN, DEAR, I'M ASKING YOU TO MARRY ME."

dal. It comes, I suppose, of being given a sword to play with. I shall have to speak to your father about it. You need manners more than a sword at present."

The minx was skilled in the art of punishing. But the lad refused to be put out of countenance.

"Nan, dear, I'm asking you to marry me."

She jumped at that. Her eyes dilated. "Lord!" she said. "What condescension! But d'you think I want a child tied to my apron-strings?"

"I am going away, Nan—tomorrow, very early. I came to say goodby."

Her eyelids flickered, and in that moment a discerning glance would have detected a gleam of alarm from her blue eyes. But there was no hint of it in her voice:

"I thought you said it was to marry me you came."

"Why will you be teasing me? It means so much to me, Nan. I want you to say that you'll wait for me; that you'll marry me some day."

He would have caught her by the shoulders again. But she eluded those eager hands of his:

"You haven't told me yet where you are going."

"I am going to London, to the army. My father has procured me a cornetcy of horse, and I am to serve under General Monk, who is his friend."

It made an impression, though she did not give him the satisfaction of seeing how great that impression was. As it was, the surprise of it left her silent, staring at him in a new wonder. He took advantage of it to approach her again. He caught her to him, taking her unawares this time and seizing her suddenly. Before she could elude him.

"Nan, my dear!"

She struggled in his arms. But he held her firmly. She struggled the harder, and, finding her struggles ineffective, her temper rose. Her hands against his breast she thrust him back.

"Release me at once! Release me, or I'll scream!"

At that and the anger in her voice, he let her go, and stood sheepishly, abashed, whilst she retreated a few paces from him, breathing quickly, her eyes aflash.

"Forgive me, Nan!" He was in a passion of penitence, fearing that this time he had gone too far and angered her in earnest. "Ah, don't be cruel. It is our last day together for Heaven knows how long."

"You should mend your manners," she reproved him by way of compromise.

"Why, so I will. It's only that I want you so; that I'm going away—far away; that after today I won't see you again maybe for years. If ye say that ye don't care for me at all, why, then I don't think that I'll come back to Potheridge ever. But if ye care—be it never so little, Nan—if you'll wait for me, I'll send me away with a good heart, I'll give me strength to become great. I'll conquer the world for you, my dear," he ended grandiloquently, as is the way of youth in its unbounded confidence. "I'll bring it back to toss it in your lap."

Her eyes were shining. His devotion and enthusiasm touched her. But her mischievous perversity must be dissembling it. She laughed on a rising inflection that was faintly mocking.

JONES STARTS EARLY

For the first time since he became a national figure in golf, Bobby Jones, holder of the open championship, is engaging in matches at the winter resorts. Usually Jones plays little golf during the "closed season."

STRIBLING DEVELOPS RIGHT

Firm, Plump
Flesh!

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with keen admiration on the well developed, healthy girl no matter where she may be—on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of roses from nature's own garden—the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and sharp—the girl with buoyancy and the swing of youth.

Not necessarily an out-of-doors girl. Just a girl with ever increasing blood cells. Just a girl filled with the vim and vigor of youth.

S. S. S., since 1826, has stood for increased blood cells. S. S. S. means restored strength—rekindled vitality—added energy. Take S. S. S. and watch the bloom of youth return to your cheeks. Watch that flabby, ill nourished flesh fade away before flesh that is firm and plump. Red blood cells will do it and S. S. S. will build them. It contains only pure vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

Family Remedy For Colds, Body Building

Father John's Medicine Treats Colds and Builds Up The Body. Contains No Alcohol Or Dangerous Drugs. — 68 Years In Use.

Father John's Medicine is a doctor's prescription and was prescribed for the Rev. Father John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass., in 1855.

Father John recommended this prescription to his parishioners and friends and in this way it became known as Father John's Medicine.

This old-fashioned food medicine makes flesh and strength for all the family and helps to build up energy to fight off colds and grip germs.

Father John's Medicine has a history of 68 years' success treating coughs, colds and throat troubles, and a body-builder. Guaranteed free from alcohol or dangerous drugs.

Because of its health-building value Father John's Medicine is called "the greatest body-builder."

31 Years Of Conscientious Service

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Doly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth Ohio.

Dear Dolly—I need your help, I am a married man with a good wife and family, but there is another woman running after me, but I don't want to have anything to do with her. Dolly, she wants me to get a divorce from my wife and marry her, but I would not have her on a bet. She is a dirty housekeeper, and she is mean to her husband and neglects her two children. Now Dolly, do you think any sane man would want a woman like that? She must be "cuckoo" if she thinks that I am going to give up a good clean wife and pretty children for the likes of her. Dolly, she paints up until she looks like a house afire and parades the streets and runs after me and asks me for money until I don't know what to do. I can't forsake my wife and babies for her, and I want you to tell me how to get rid of her?

WORRIED MAN.

You could get rid of her in short order, unless she has something on you, and you are afraid to make her mad. You have probably gotten in so deep, that you think you can't turn back, or get out, without losing your happy home, or being exposed to your friends.

If an explosion has to come, you might as well let it come now, and it may not be heard by anyone but yourself and the woman. If it becomes necessary to tell your wife, do so, and don't let her get the information second-hand from the neighbors. She can help you get rid of the woman and she would think lots more of you, if you told her all about how this human parasite has been hounding you. Then get busy and tell this woman what you think of her and that you are through with her and you don't want her to ever cross your path or look at you again. It may take courage, but courage and will power is what you have been lacking for a long time.

Dear Dolly—I am a married lady and my husband and I don't live together. Now Dollie, I love my husband better than anyone in the world, but he stays in Huntington, W. Va., and only comes to see me once and twice a week. Dolly, there is no pleasure in life without him. We were married last October, and we kept company for a year and a half before we were married. He is 26 years of ag, and very handsome, and I am 24. Please give me your advice.

R. C. L.

My advice is to go to Huntington with your husband the next time he comes to see you. If not then, make arrangements with him to get a place for you and join him as soon as possible. Since you love him, and he comes to see you regularly, I can't understand why you are living apart.

Dear Dolly—I am a young man of 19 and in love with a brunette living in a village of this county, and she seems in love enough with me to marry me. Should I ask her now, or wait until I have made more of a mark in the world. I am a cook, and she seems to think this would work out fine should we ever get married, as I could get the meals. Should I do this, if we ever get married. Dolly, will green hose be proper this spring for men?

ONLY A COOK.

You won't make any kind of a mark in life at your present job. However, if you will quit slinging pancakes and learn to be a real honest-to-goodness chef, or caterer, in some big hotel or restaurant, you will probably make your mark in life. You will not be old enough to get married for two years and by that time you will be able to decide who you want to marry. If the shops are showing green hose it will be perfectly all right to wear them.

Dear Dolly—I would appreciate it very much if you would answer the following question: When was the last frost last spring, and the first one this autumn?

CURLY LOCKS.

If it were a matter of life and death, I might try to get this information for you, but since it doesn't make any difference to you or me, when the first and last frost occurred, I don't feel like wasting my perfectly good time going through the files to find out. You can get the information from Dr. Harry A. Schirrman but since he too, is a very busy man, I would not advise you to trouble him unless absolutely necessary.

Mabel—I do answer letters privately, when I have time, but I have at least one hundred letters ahead of me, and more coming in every day, so you see it is impossible to answer all, or even half of them. However, I will do the best I can, and perhaps you will get an answer when you are least expecting it.

MAKES FAT PEOPLE SLIM!

Many of your friends think that you are too fat. You too realize it. But why, in all common sense, don't you get rid of that extra 10, 20, 50 or more pounds? Feel comfortable and more like a human being again. I am a physician licensed by the State of New York. I have for years treated men and women overburdened with excessive flesh; many have reduced as much as a pound a day. I prescribe for my patients such treatment as will, in my opinion, produce not only the loss of weight without harm, but an improvement in health. Don't take my word for it. Let me send you free my trial treatment and convince yourself. Personal attention is given to each case and you are treated exactly as if you were in my office.

FREE TRIAL TREATMENT AND INTERESTING BOOKLET

I have successfully treated thousands of patients for fat reduction.

Without Change of Diet or Unnecessary Exercise

Below are a few extracts of letters from grateful patients which bear out my statements:

Lost 76 Pounds. Miss J. Whillow writes: "I have lost 76 pounds as a result of your treatment and have never felt so well in my life as I do now."

Lost 70 Pounds. Mr. S. Santos writes: "I have lost 70 pounds as a result of taking your treatment. I feel better in every way. I can now take long walks without becoming tired or short of breath. I thank you very much for what you have done for me."

Lost 48 Pounds. Mrs. E. Horner says: "Well, I'm glad to inform you that I have lost 48 pounds in 6 weeks."

Make up your mind this very day to get rid of that fat. Write me for my free trial treatment now; then you'll soon realize how happy you'll feel, how much better your health will be for having joined the thousands of my grateful patients who now belong to the ranks of Slim People. Don't delay. Write now for FREE Trial Treatment.

Getting Skinnier Every Day

Something Must Be Done and Done Darn Quick, Too

Tens of thousands of thin, run-down men—yes, and women too—are getting discouraged—are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile right now for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, which any druggist will tell you all about, is putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, put on 15 pounds in five weeks and feels fine.

We all know that Cod Liver Oil is full of flesh, producing vitamines, but many people can't take it because of its horrible smell and fishy taste, and because it often upsets the stomach.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets are as easy to take as candy, and if any thin person don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will give you your money back—and only 60 cents a box. Ask Fisher & Streich, Wurster Bros. and Stewart's Cut Rate Drug Store or any live pharmacist anywhere.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

SEVERAL RIDDLES

Sometimes they're silver, sometimes gold.

"Instead of a long riddle today," announced the Riddle Lady, "I am going to ask several short ones. Now see who can be first to guess this one:

"Sometimes they're silver, sometimes gold,
And like these things, are hard to hold.
The gold ones oft are kept in cases,
Made out of glass like precious vases.

"They keep no stores, and yet they're scales,
They have no feet, but all have tails,
They come in schools but have no books,
This is their motto, "Beware of hooks!"

"I know what it is," sang out Simple Simon. And at exactly the same instant didn't Tommy Tittlemouse say it, too.

"What?" said the Riddle Lady.

"Fish!" replied both Simon and Tommy promptly. No wonder they could guess so easily. Simon fishing the silly way he did, in his mother's scrubbing pail, and Tommy Tittlemouse, who lived in the little house, fishing forever in other men's ditches!

"That's right," said the Riddle Lady. "The prize is a new fishing line for each of you. Now listen, everybody. What is this?

"It wears no gown, but ne'er the less,
It travels not without address,
It cannot walk, it cannot tramp,
Yet never moves without a stamp?"

Now, of course, my dears, this riddle sounds as easy as pie for you, but nobody knew what it was but the Twins. They knew for many reasons. First, because they had worked in the Fairyland Postoffice helping Mister Stamps. But anyway—did you ever, ever, ever hear of anyone in Mother Goose Land writing a letter?

Yes, that's what it was, a letter, and Nancy guessed it and got a nice box of writing paper of her own with pictures on it. The Mother Goose people thought it very curious.

"Now, then, for the third riddle," said the Riddle Lady. "Listen carefully:

"It lives in a cellar,
But never leaves the kitchen,
It's one of the seasons,
Yet never sees the sky,
Cap is full of holes,
But never puts a stitch in,
Must have its reasons!
Can you tell me why?"

Well, sir! Everybody nearly guessed his head off. But not a person could get it. Not even Nancy and Nick, and usually they could guess anything.

"Perhaps the kitchen is in the cellar," Some are," said the Crooked Man, whose front door went in the back way.

"No!" the Riddle Lady shook her head. "Not this cellar."

"And a season just cannot be in the house!" declared the Old-Woman-Who-Lived-Under-the-Hell.

"This one can," smiled the Riddle Lady. "There are other seasons besides summer and winter and spring and fall. Perhaps I should have said 'The four seasonings' instead."

That let the cat out of the bag!

"Salt!" shouted everybody at once.

"That's right," laughed the Riddle Lady. "But there is no prize. You were all too slow!"

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — THE CAVE OF THE WINDS.

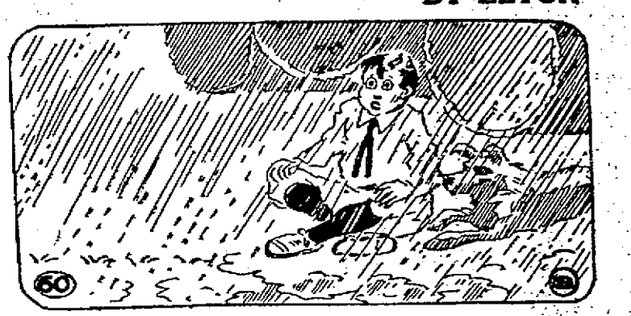

BY ELTON

As the little adventurer lay on the ground, guarded by the old tree trunks, he gased up into the sky. The sun, which had been shining brightly, was now almost hidden from view. The black clouds moved on and on until finally the sun was gone altogether. Then more thunder came.

Suddenly a tiny voice whispered, "See what I have done." Jack looked up quickly and there stood West Wind. "What do you mean?" asked the little adventurer. "Why, I'm going to settle all of the dust in the woods just as I said I would." And at that moment it started to rain.

Down came the water drops. First they were small, but gradually they grew larger and larger. "Better crawl 'way underneath those logs," suggested West Wind, "then you won't get wet." Jack did and West Wind once more was gone. The rain came down in torrents. (Continued.)

How's Your Elimination?

If you have a "weak back," headaches, undue thirst, or "wandering" pains, it is probable that your kidneys are not doing their full duty, or perhaps are overloaded in the work of eliminating waste products. These products are systemic poisons when allowed to accumulate in the body, and they are conducive to a number of serious ailments.

NYAL STONE ROOT COMPOUND is an effective aid to proper kidney action. It is an old-fashioned medicine. It contains no saltpeter. It does not over-stimulate the kidneys, to produce later weakness.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for treatment of chronic coughs and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach is absorbed into the blood attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. —advertisement acts of the government itself? And where shall the line be drawn between speculation and investment?

The usual tales of the roundabout efforts of the oil companies to gain favor are being told and while no one is talking about outright bribery there are suspicions being expressed that favors were extended in order to bring about a favorable viewpoint toward the leasing of the oil reserves to private interests.

One of the most perplexing phases of the controversy is the difference of opinion which seems to exist with reference to the true value of some of the oil leases now under investigation. Responsible persons are making the statement that some of the leases in question are really of doubtful value and that the owners know it but that the latter had to keep on making public statements about the amount of money expected to be made out of the leases in order to bolster up on the stock market the value of the stocks of particular oil companies involved. If they admitted that the leases were without value, the stocks would tumble. If they admitted that large sums of money would be made, the Senate would get the impression that the government had made a contract unfavorable to itself.

Just how much did the oil companies know ahead of time concerning the making of the leases? Did they gather all outstanding claims and arrange a settlement so that the government would look with more favor on the making of a lease or did they settle the claims because they knew the land was so valuable that they could buy out the claimants at a low figure and ultimately make more money themselves?

As for the general leasing policy this undoubtedly will figure in the answer to be made by the Republicans to the Democratic attack. Certain leases were made under the Democratic administration. While no one has proved that any Democrat received money or loans or any other favor to make the leases it is a fact that private interests did secure leases under certain conditions. Were these leases wisely made? If not, then the Republicans can claim that both the Democrats and the Republicans followed the practice of making leases.

The Democrats will say of course that they made their leases in the open and asked for bids. But should the government's reserves be leased to private interests? One day President Harding in a conference with newspapermen discussed the subject to some extent. The criticism of the Teapot Dome lease had begun to develop and there was talk of an investigation by the Senate. Mr. Harding declared with vehemence that it was all right to talk about preserving the oil for the navy but if nobody would drill the wells there wouldn't be any oil and that if the lands adjacent were being tapped by private companies the government's supply might be drained.

Mr. Harding never believed in government development of its own oil lands. He didn't want the government to go into the oil business. He believed that if the government entered into a contract with private concerns who would find it to their advantage to invest their money in drilling operations, both purposes would be served—the navy would get its oil and the private companies would make their expenses and a return on their investment.

Granting the principle of this argument as sound, the question then turns on whether the private companies got more than their share of the oil and made a return entirely out of proportion to the investment they applied. And shouldn't the government have gotten more out of it all?

Experts are at odds on these points but the controversy will really turn on unprejudiced testimony of experts. If it is proved that the interests of the government were neglected it will make the issue of clean government even more conspicuous in the campaign. There are signs of cleaning already. The administration is probing itself, making rules for the conduct of government business based upon the disclosures made. Clean government is a trite issue but it will have a concrete significance in the 1924 political campaign.

ger functioning as such. State troops en route here will bring the total in Williamson county to approximately 1,700.

The troops ordered to proceed here include the 130th Infantry, composed of Southern Illinois units, and the 132nd Infantry, made up of Chicagoans.

At present there are five companies of guardsmen in Herrin, three companies of Infantry, a machine gun company, one troop of cavalry on foot and a headquarters company at Marion and three unmounted troops of cavalry and a headquarters company at Johnston City.

No untoward incident occurred last night in Williamson county, according to reports to the military authorities here early this morning. The troops have placed machine guns in strategic points in the three towns over which they are exercising military control, and guards have been thrown about the court house at Marion, and the city hall and hospital here.

The citizen police deputized by S. Glenn Young, acting chief of police of Herrin, and an admitted paid employe of the Ku Klux Klan, continued their patrol of Herrin streets last night and this morning. Young stated he had deputized about 300 such men. Regular police badges for that number were not available, so a tinsmith fashioned a number of six pointed tin stars as an emblem of their authority.

It was Young who led the series of "dry" raids in Williamson county which resulted in the arrest of approximately 2,000 persons and the formation of a Knights of the Flaming Circle, a faction to oppose the Klan dry raiders, and it was in a flare-up of the intense feeling engendered by Young's activities that Caesar Cagle, constable of Herrin, was killed Thursday night and feeling reached a pitch which necessitated soldiers being ordered into Williamson county for the second time within a month.

Doheny's companies. It is clearly shown in my letter and in the testimony before the committee that neither they nor I had any relation whatever to the leases made of the Teapot Dome and California naval reserve. There is therefore, nothing more to be said on that score. But I have sought the privilege of appearing before you in person for the purpose of contributing in any way in my power as a private citizen to the objects of the inquiry.

"It has been assumed that honorably conducted law practice of a citizen holding no public office is not ordinarily a subject of congressional inquiry. I think it may fairly be presumed that if my name was not prominently mentioned in connection with high office, my private practice as a lawyer would be of no interest to this committee or to the public. Whether or not it has been drawn into this inquiry to serve a partisan political purpose the country will judge.

Must Ferret Out The Guilty

"It would be a crime against the public if the dragging of innocent people into this affair should divert attention from the guilty or prevent the discovery of those who have betrayed the public interest. The whole country is shocked and appalled by what has been revealed in this investigation. The fact that a former cabinet officer of the administration is already gravely involved has raised a strong suspicion in the public mind that others may be guilty. The faith of the people in their own government is shaken and the damaging effects upon public morale are so grave that the security of democratic institutions is seriously imperiled. The first duty, the imperative duty of the hour, is mercilessly to uncover and to bring to public view and scorn and punishment every one who has betrayed the public trust or who has been guilty of wrong doing in this humiliating and dangerous affair.

"This question transcends political parties and partisan considerations. Clean and incorruptible government is vital not alone to Republicans and Democrats, but to every citizen. For my part, I am eager to see partisanship stilled in the face of so grave a danger to our common cause. It would be an inspiration to see men and women in private life and partisans of all parties in public life united as they were in the great war in a common effort to destroy corruption and to bring the government back to honesty.

"I should like to supplement my letter of February 7, with some of the reasons that prevailed upon me to represent Mr. Doheny's companies in his Mexican difficulties.

Given Reason For Representing Doheny

"Article 27 of the Mexican constitution of May 1, 1917, was an attempt to assert ownership by the Mexican government in the mineral deposits of the sub-surface of lands in Mexico. If this article should be made retro-active it would result in the confiscation of properties of American citizens lawfully acquired prior to the adoption of that constitution. This presented a grave situation for American property rights in Mexico—so grave in fact, that the Wilson administration on April 2, 1918, through Ambassador Fletcher at Mexico City, filed a solemn protest against it. This attitude was consistently maintained by the Wilson administration throughout its life. When the Harding administration came in Secretary Hughes adopted the same policy. This policy was insisted upon by the American commissioners to Mexico, Messrs. Warren and Payne, and as I understand it was practically made a condition of recognition of Mexico by the United States.

"During the year 1918, I was director general of the railroads of the United States. The fuel problem was one of the most serious with which we had to deal. I was then made to realize keenly the tremendous importance of fuel oil from Mexico. A great number of American industries along the Atlantic seaboard were dependent upon Mexican fuel oil. The preservation of this fuel oil supply was then and is now essential to our international economy. Not alone is this true but the question of an adequate oil supply and of an adequate oil reserve is one of the most important for any nation under considerations of modern warfare. In fact, the crucial test in the next war, if one should come, is not going to be alone a war of appliances, but control of an adequate supply of petroleum to meet the needs of national defense and offense. It is no exaggeration to say that the strongest nation in petroleum resources will be the most likely victor in such a contest. For all of these reasons therefore, the American government and the American people were interested in preserving the Mexican oil supply which was lawfully owned or controlled by American citizens.

Knew Pan-America

"In 1915, I called the first Pan-American financial conference in Washington. It was attended by all the South and Central American republics except Mexico which was then in a state of revolution. The following year, 1916, I attended the first session of the international high commission of all the South-Central American republics at Buenos Aires in the Argentine. At this session were discussed economic, financial and other problems of great consequence to the whole of Latin-America, and I gained a familiarity with conditions prevailing throughout South and Central Americas, which could not have been learned in any other way. I was deeply interested not alone in these economic and financial problems but in promoting closer and better relations between the United States and all of these republics.

"Mr. Doheny's companies as well as Mr. Doheny enjoyed an enviable reputation when he called on me in 1919. His companis were the outstanding independent oil companies furnishing the required supply of Mexican fuel oil to our industries along the Atlantic seaboard. They were also the only strong companies offering competition with the so-called "oil trust" in the United States. For the purpose of preserving competition and securing the essential suplies of fuel oil for our industries along the Atlantic seaboard, it was highly desirable to protect by every legitimate and proper means, the oil bearing properties of American citizens in Mexico.

"When Mr. Doheny, therefore, asked my firm to act for him professionally; in trying to prevent the confiscation of his valuable petroleum properties in Mexico, representing several hundred million dollars, it appealed to me because of my general knowledge of the Mexican and Latin-American relations gained in the manner I have described, and because it was in line with the declared policy of the administration to protect American properties against confiscation in Mexico.

"I believed that an opportunity was presented to render a genuine service, outside of my professional work in promoting Latin-American commerce and more particularly in contributing to the protection of all American rights in Mexico if retroactive and confiscatory effect to Article 27 of the Mexican constitution could be prevented.

"This, with my letter of February 7, 1924 gives the history of my professional connection with the Doheny companies. The service I have rendered to them was in good faith and in full satisfaction for the fees that have been paid. I owe them nothing and they owe me nothing."

Politics

enter the service of Mr. Doheny, Mr. McAdoo replied in the negative, adding that he had not met Mr. Doheny until after he had retired from office.

His resignation as counsel was submitted on February 2, he said, the day after Doheny, testifying before the committee, first revealed their connection. He said he had advised Doheny only on Mexican affairs.

"I think I may say that if he had advised me about the matter," he added, "he never would have gotten into this difficulty."

Mr. McAdoo said Doheny was mistaken in saying that his services here for Doheny companies ended with the passing of the Wilson administration.

In 1922, he said he appeared before Under Secretary of State Fletcher to "earnestly" express the hope that the Mexican policy of the Harding administration would be as vigorous as was that of the Wilson administration.

Asked by Chairman Lenroot if he regarded Mr. Doheny "equally as guilty" as Mr. Fall in the oil lease matter, Mr. McAdoo said:

"Not equally. But I think he's guilty of a very serious matter. Of course, I don't undertake to express a judgment until your evidence is completed. Therefore, I say, it appears."

The former secretary naturally had felt some indignation that his name had been brought into the investigation.

"I think any honest man would feel precisely the same way."

Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, wanted to know if Doheny delivered the $100,000 retainer fee paid Mr. McAdoo's New York firm "in a satchel."

"He did not, sir," replied McAdoo. "It came to me in the form of a check."

Reed Requested Name Be Brought Out

Chairman Lenroot said he wished to explain "outside of the record" that the questions which had been put to Mr. Doheny and which resulted in the disclosure of Mr. McAdoo's employment as counsel, had been at the request of Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri.

"It was in these questions that your name was brought out as one of his counsel," Chairman Lenroot said. "Do you think this committee would have been justified in refusing the request of Senator Reed?"

"No, sir," replied McAdoo. "I am glad you brought it out. I hope the committee will continue its investigations and bring out all the facts. I think the matter of my employment is absolutely and wholly irrelevant to this inquiry as it is not concerned with it, but nevertheless, I am perfectly willing to have the committee inquire into it. If it will aid the committee in unearthing the people who have been guilty of wrong doing, I am glad to have it brought out."

Asked "what service" he had performed as counsel for Doheny, he said:

"Special counsel, acting in an advisory capacity in such matters as were presented to me from time to time."

"He has not advised with you about any matters except Mexican matters?"

Never Consulted In Oil Leases

"Our professional relations began in that connection and continued in that connection. I have never been consulted in his oil leases. He has had other attorneys for that work. He was free to ask me about all matters and if he had consulted me about oil matters I would have advised him."

Chairman Lenroot asked the witness whether he had appeared personally before the government departments in the matters referred to in his recent letter to the committee.

"I did not," replied Mr. McAdoo. "My partner, Mr. Cotton, appeared before the state department on occasions. I purposely refrained from acting myself, because I wanted to observe every propriety in this matter.

"There was no question of politics involved in the matters, presented. It was the policy of the administration to protect American interests in Mexico. That policy was observed under the Wilson administration and has been observed under this administration. I do not believe any administration could survive that did not stand for the protection of American property and rights, not only in Mexico, but in all nations."

Senator Walsh directed the witness' attention to a trip he once made to Mexico.

"In January, 1921, I went to Mexico," Mr. McAdoo replied, "and one of the purposes was to discuss with the Mexican authorities questions concerning Article 27 of the Mexican constitution.

"I had a conference with President Obregon in which I stated and impressed upon him that a genuine disaster would result to Mexico if an attempt was made to give Article 27 retroactive effect. I not only outlined to him that such an attempt would prevent all American enterprise in Mexico and destroy all confidence in the government but that the credit which Mexico needed imperatively to develop the country could not be had if such things should be undertaken.

"I explained to him at that time that the American market was the only market where there was available any large suply of credit in the world and that Mexico had no resort to any other market for such credit."

This made it inperative, Mr. McAdoo said, for the Mexican government to make its position plain.

"President Obregon expressed himself as being entirely in accord with that view," Mr. McAdoo continued, "and said that it was not intended to give Section 27 retroactive effect and that there was no intention to confiscate American property in Mexico."

Says Third Party Will Not Get The Endorsement of Organized Labor

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 11.—(Special).—The third party movement will not get the support of organized labor and radical farmer groups, and an effort to get it before the Conference for Progressive Political Action, at St. Louis on February 12, will be promptly and decisively squelched.

This course was bluntly announced here today by William H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists and Chairman of the National Conference Committee.

This organization is composed of the sixteen organizations of railway workers, various farmer groups and individual radicals. Chairman Johnston asserts that important political results have been gained by the Conference through non-partisan political effort, and this policy will be continued this year, if the will of the leaders is respected, he declares.

"At the forthcoming conference a policy and program of political action will be considered and adopted after free debate and full deliberation," said Mr. Johnston. "This program will be presented to the voters as a means whereby they can give expression of their sentiments without wearing the collar of any partisan organization."

At a convention held at Cleveland last December extreme radicals sought to force the adoption of a third party resolution, but were defeated when their leaders were forcibly ejected from the hall.

"Vigorous measures" will be employed at the St. Louis meeting if another effort is made to divert the organization from the political policy of the American Federation of Labor, according to Mr. Johnston.

It is asserted that delegates from Ohio and thirty other states will be represented at the convention. Organized railroad workers, it is said, will have the larger representation and thus will be able to dominate the proceedings, their leaders affirm.

Recently executive officials of the railroad brotherhoods held a prolonged series of secret conferences at Washington, at which it is reported a tacit agreement was reached to support the candidacy of William Gibbs McAdoo.

Union leaders here today expressed their belief that the connection of Mr. Adoo with the Teapot Dome revelations will not deprive him of the loyal support of organized railroad workers.

Edison Celebrates 77th Birthday Anniversary; Gives Views On Modern Topics of Discussion

ORANGE, N. J., February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Thomas A. Edison's famous questionnaire for determining the fitness of men for the jobs they seek is a failure, the wizard admitted at his laboratory where he today is celebrating his 77th birthday by working.

"The questionnaire system does eliminate the unfit to a certain extent," he said, "but something more is needed for the selection of good men."

That workmen's homes in the future would be built on the standardization plan, in large quantities and cheaply, also, was indicated by Mr. Edison as one of his expectations of the benefits to mankind of coming inventions.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., February 11.—(By the United Press)—Thomas A. Edison started out on his 78th year today with his customary birthday kick in the air to prove his inexhaustible youth, plenty of hard work and the usual greeting of friends. He celebrated his birthday by arriving before any of his employes and pushed the time clock.

The electrical wizard was persuaded to give his views, after another year of maturity on current subjects of interest.

In response to questions he said:

"Man has not yet reached, but is approaching physical perfection.

"When coal and crude petroleum resources are exhausted, power will be extracted from the sun, wind, the tides and vegetable growth.

The American college is good as it forces the young man to do work he doesn't want to do.

"The modern young girl who goes to extremes in matters of dress and habit, is all right, but a little bit foolish.

"The contest between fundamentalists and modernists in religion is the result of an attempt to make facts out of myths.

"Execution of criminals by lethal gas is more humane than electricity.

"Radio is a great invention, but will never supplant the newspaper as a means of disseminating information.

"As for the field of potential presidential possibilities, I am inclined to favor Coolidge.

"I feel just as young today as I did when I was 40," the wizard declared.

"I am a little more ackward, but just as active."

Ministers To Help Booost Community Work

At the meeting of the Portsmouth Ministerial Association at the First United Brethren church this morning approval was given to the plan of the State Council of Churches to hold one of their Social Service and Community Cooperation meetings in this city on Sunday and Monday, May 18th and 19th.

On Sunday, March 2nd, all the ministers as far as possible will preach a sermon dealing with the work of the Bureau of Community Service and other organizations whose work is financed through the Community Chest. It is felt that the people of the churches need to be better informed on the work of these splendid organizations and the problems they meet.

The ministers who were not in that meeting are requested to conform to this plan. If any minister is unable to preach a sermon on this theme on the Sunday fixed by the association they are requested to deliver such a sermon on the Sunday preceding or on the Sunday succeeding the date set.

A communication was read from Mr. Frick of the Chamber of Commerce regarding Sunday work and it was decided to invite Mr. Frick to be present at the next regular meeting and speak to the ministers on this subject.

Cabinet To Remain Intact, Weeks Says After Talking With President

WASHINGTON, February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Secretary Weeks after a luncheon conference with President Coolidge during which they discussed the Robinson resolution requesting the president to ask for the resignation of Secretary Denby, made this statement:

"So far as I know the cabinet will remain intact."

"Adoption by the senate of the Robinson resolution will in my opinion effect no change in the situation," Mr. Weeks said. "The senate is authorized to confirm nominations of cabinet officers and to try them on impeachment for wrong doing. Otherwise, it has no authority over the tenure of office of cabinet members."

With growing bitterness, the senate debate on the resolution asking for the resignation of Secretary Denby entered today on its final stage.

There was an agreement to vote before adjournment tonight, and the sponsors for the move to oust the navy secretary appeared confident that in one form or another the resolution would be adopted.

Boys' Dept. at Second Church To Banquet Tomorrow Night

Members of the boys' department of the Second Presbyterian church are to enjoy a banquet to be held in the basement of the church tomorrow (Tuesday) evening at six o'clock. The spread is the culmination of a contest held among the various classes of the department, the winners to receive some extra "eats" and the losers have to wash the dishes. The teachers are to do the serving. The women of the church have been engaged to furnish the food. A special program has been arranged and all those who attend are assured a delightful time. A special invitation is extended to every member of the department to attend the banquet, and those who have not been personally invited or been communicated with in any manner are asked to consider this notice a personal invitation to be there at six p. m. sharp tomorrow. Don't miss the program—it will be a dandy.

"McADOO'S CHANCES FOR NOMINATION HURT BY DOHENY ASSOCIATIONS"

SAYS HEAD OF MACHINISTS' UNION

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11.—William G. McAdoo's association with the Doheny oil interests rendered his "availability" as a presidential candidate doubtful, according to William H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists. Mr. Johnston presided at the opening session today of the three day convention here of the national conference for political action.

"McAdoo could have had the support of organized labor, but there is now a very serious question of his availability as a candidate," said Mr. Johnston.

"There seems to have been nothing illegal in McAdoo's service for the Doheny interests but there is a question of the propriety of a former cabinet officer after leaving his post accepting employment with such interests and then asking to be nominated for president," said Otto F. Branstetter, secretary of the Socialist party national committee.

The Socialist party delegates to the conference will urge a union of all organizations represented in formation of a third party, it was said.

The conference represents national and international labor organizations, many farm organizations, the Socialist party, advocates of single taxation and co-operative organizations. Its purpose is to formulate plans for political action in the coming campaign.

Taft Must Remain Indoors

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Chief Justice Taft, who was taken ill with indigestion last Wednesday, probably will be confined to his home throughout the coming week by his physicians.

Although his condition is improving under treatment, and he is permitted to do little work at his home, he was absent today from a conference of justices of the supreme court. It was said at his residence that his physicians as a precaution, desired that he remain indoors for another week.

Here To Confer About Lawson Run Sewer

W. T. Greeley of the firm of Pearce, Greeley and Hansen of Chicago arrived here Monday and will confer with the Board of Control relative to having work resumed on the Lawson Run sewer in the East End. Work was halted when it was learned that more steel would have to be ordered to complete the work. Mr. Greeley's mission here is to straighten out this matter.

ACCUSED OF TRYING TO SET CHURCH ON FIRE

G. W. Jamison, 30 years old, grocer at 2362 Ninth street, pleaded not guilty to a charge of arson when arraigned in Municipal court Monday and the case was continued until Tuesday for preliminary hearing.

Jamison is accused of having attempted to set fire to the Pentecostal Church of Christ on Sixth street, near Broadway, by putting a match to some paper which was sticking in a hole in one of the windows. The incident occurred while services were in progress at the church about eight-thirty o'clock Sunday night.

Four Reports On Revenue Bill Differ On Income and Surtax Rates

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Four reports on the new revenue bill differing widely on the question of income and surtax rates were reported to the house today by members of the ways and means committee. The measure, which has occupied more than two months of the committee's time, is expected to provide at least a month's debate in the house where a change in the rules will permit its amendment from the floor.

Chairman Green in submitting the committee report which was adopted by a strict party vote in the committee, although three of the Republicans including Mr. Green, are known to favor its amendment, declares the income tax reductions provided for in the bill as submitted will bring an annual saving to taxpayers estimated at $34,440,000 after it is in full operation, as compared with the estimated 1-923 income returns together with an estimated reduction of $232,750,000 in 1923 personal income taxes payable this year.

The reduction in estimated revenue will be distributed as follows:

Normal tax, $91,600,000;

Surtaxes, $101,800,000;

Earned income, $89,500,000;

Miscellaneous or war excise taxes, many of which were repealed, $108,040,000.

This will be offset by increases resulting from limitations put up on capital losses and certain deductions limited to tax free income which it is estimated will bring in $49,500,000 additional revenue annually.

The normal tax on the first $4,000 of taxable income is reduced from four per cent to three per cent and upon the remainder of the taxable income from 8 to 6 per cent. The initial surtax rate of one per cent is made to apply at $10,000 instead of $6,000 and is increased gradually to 25 per cent in incomes of $100,000 and over.

Mr. Green said "the bill gives material relief to all income taxpayers and the amount of reductions and consequent loss to the treasury is larger in the lower brackets than in the higher, though the percentage of reduction, of course, is much larger in the higher brackets than in the lower."

Referring to the provisions for a 25 per cent reduction in tax on earned incomes, the chairman said:

"The definition that at least $5,000 of the taxpayer's income shall in all cases be considered earned amply provides for the small taxpayer, such as the farmer and merchant whose income is derived in part from personal services and in part from capital; and approaches exact justice as near as it is possible without making the law unworkable and impossible of administration."

The report of the eleven Republicans of the committee was the same as Chairman Green's except for considerable additional argument defending the cut in surtaxes to a maximum of 25 per cent. It pointed out that the high rates were becoming increasingly unproductive, citing that incomes of more than $100,000 constituted 29.5 per cent of the total income reported in 1916 and 5.4 and 4.5 per cent, respectively, in 1920 and 1921.

"The only way that the income tax as applied to large incomes can be made an actuality," the report said, "is by reducing the rate of tax to a sound level and thus lessening the incentive to taxpayers to avoid the tax."

The Democratic report called for a reduction in the normal taxes to 2 per cent on net incomes up to $5,000; four per cent on incomes between $5,000 and $10,000, and the reduction to $8,000 was explained as necessary to cut down somewhat the loss in revenue which the treasury reported would be sustained under the plan. The surtax rates proposed by the Democrats would start with 1 per cent at $12,000 and increase to 44 per cent on incomes of $92,000 and over. These rates, the report said, would result in losses of revenue, under treasury estimates of $186,257,386 in the normal taxes, compared to $77,014,854 under the Mellon rates and adopted by the committee. The figures were based on 1921 revenue returns.

Citing Secretary Mellon's declaration that Representative Garner, ranking Democrat of the Committee, "was playing politics in offering this tax revision plan," the report declared his expression was "an absurd performance and in the judgment of the minority is the worst of bad faith toward progressive income taxation."

In addition to asking different income rates, the Democrats proposed higher taxes and enactment of a gift tax, together with the repeal of a number of the miscellaneous taxes in addition to those already revised by the committee. The report explained that all features of the bill were considered by the whole committee until the income rates were reached, when the Democrats were excluded.

Claims Woman Placed Moonshine In Buggy; Court Reserves Decision

VANCEBURG, Ky., Feb. 11—(Special to the Times)—Shell Howard, was arrested Sunday night about nine o'clock at Fraley Bros.' livery barn by Marshal Henry Sullivan and Deputy John Tolle on a charge of possessing moonshine. Officers claim they found two and a half gallons of moonshine in the back of his buggy when he brought it back to the livery barn. He hired the outfit Saturday and drove to his home at Harrison, 18 miles south of Vanceburg.

Sunday night he was released under $500 bond furnished by Dr. C. S. Stout. This afternoon at one o'clock he was given a hearing before Magistrate William Lyles. Howard was represented by Attorney R. D. Wilson.

Officers Sullivan and Tolle and John Fraley were witnesses for the state. Howard claimed the moonshine did not belong to him and that it was placed in the buggy by a woman he met on the road several miles south of the village. After all evidence was in Attorney Wilson moved that the charge be dismissed as the officers did not have a search warrant. The court took the case under advisement until he could look up this phase of the law.

WOMAN FINED ON POSSESSION CHARGE

A number of liquor offenders were penalized by Judge Sprague in Municipal court Monday afternoon.

Ida Harper, 35, negress, 1512 Waller street, drew a penalty of $100 and costs for possession of two half pints of "moon" which she had when nabbed by the police.

Ed. Kazee, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty of selling liquor, second offense, and sentence was deferred, after Attorney T. C. Beatty urged leniency for the defendant, who, he said, desired to go to the coal fields to work. He was released under $1,000 bond in order that he may appear in the United States court in Cincinnati Wednesday.

Held For Murder of 83 Year Old Grandmother

PLYMOUTH, IND., February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Marshal county authorities today began a thorough investigation into the past of Raymond B. Smith, 36, prominent farmer, arrested yesterday on a charge of having murdered his 83-year-old grandmother two years ago. They already have ascertained that the accused man's father was mysteriously murdered in Pittsfield, Mass., a few years ago; that his mother was found dead in Chicago, apparently a suicide, and that his first wife, long ill, died from what was declared to be slow poisoning brought about by her general condition.

Mrs. Margaret Smith, wife of the accused, was responsible for the alleged expose, confessing to an attorney while discussing plans for a divorce, that she knew of her husband's crime and asserting that she had been compelled to help move the body to its hiding place. The body of the murdered woman, Mrs. Francis Sweet was found buried beneath a concrete foundation of a chicken house on Smith's farm, Mrs. Smith leading the authorities to the spot after her attorney had sworn out a warrant against Smith.

Mrs. Candler Must Appear In Police Court

Atlanta, Ga., February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Mrs. Asa G. Candler, Sr., wife of the millionaire Atlanta capitalist, must appear in police court tomorrow morning to answer to charges growing out of the raid Saturday in which she was arrested in an apartment in company with two prominent business men, Recorder George E. Johnson, ruled today, when the other principals offered to waive her appearance.

W. J. Stoddard, president of the National Dry Cleaners' Association, and G. W. Keeling, president of a brick manufacturing company, appeared in police court this morning and offered to proceed with the trial of the case in which Mrs. Candler and the two men are charged with being occupants of a "dive".

Police Chief James L. Beavers, who led the raid, was ill at his home today, and continuance was granted until tomorrow. Recorder Johnson instructed that Mrs. Candler appear in court.

Mrs. Candler could not be located today.

W. D. Thompson, attorney for Mr. Candler in the $500,000 breach of promise suit against him last week in United States district court, in which he won the jury's verdict from Mrs. Onezima de Bouchel, of New Orleans, declared today that he did not know what action Mr. Candler would take as a result of his wife's arrest.

Opposed To Pomerene

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Officials of three railroad labor organizations appeared before the senate oil committee today to oppose the nomination of Atlee Pomerene of Ohio, as special counsel for the government in the oil lease suits.

After they had concluded their statements, the committee, called both Mr. Pomerene and his colleague, Silas H. Strawn of Chicago, before it.

The railroad labor officials who appeared were J. Paul Stephens, deputy president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; William Clark, vice president of the Order of Railroad Conductors, and J. J. Forrester, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks. They said they had opposed Mr. Pomerene on the ground that he had not had sufficient experience in handling that sort of litigation.

The committee adjourned until tomorrow without reaching a decision on the nominations. Chairman Lenroot said there were no other persons to be heard in opposition.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Carrie Thompson

Relatives here have received word of the death of Mrs. Carrie Thompson, wife of Samuel Thompson of West Liberty street, Cincinnati who died suddenly Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Grace Edwards. Mrs. Thompson was 60 years old.

Her maiden name was Carle Lauffer. She was a half sister of Otto Lauffer and a sister-in-law of Mrs. Joseph Faivre of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Lauffer left Monday afternoon for Cincinnati to attend the funeral which will be held Tuesday at Newport, Ky. Mrs. Thompson visited relatives here every summer.

Mrs. Louis Glass

Organic heart trouble following complications caused the death about 3:45 o'clock this morning of Mrs. Zellma Glass, wife of Louis Glass of 1214 Chillicothe street. She had been ill for some time but her condition was not considered serious and she was not bedfast. During the past few nights she had slept in a chair and was in a chair early this morning when stricken. She was able to get up and called to her husband for help. A physician was summoned but his efforts to revive her were of no avail.

Mrs. Zellma Glass was born on March 31, 1882, at Lockbourne near Columbus, a daughter of Leon and Emma A. Harrison. She spent her early life in that community and on June 22, 1910, was united in marriage to Louis Glass in Columbus. Immediately after their marriage they moved to Portsmouth and the remainder of her life was spent in this city, where she had a wide circle of friends.

Surviving are the husband, Louis Glass, three children, Mrs. John Lewis of Springfield and John and Louis, Jr., at home, a sister, Mrs. Harry Smith, 842 Eleventh street and a brother, Walter Harrison of Gallipolis. Two sisters have died.

Mrs. Glass was of the Methodist faith and was a member of an M. E. church at her old home. Funeral services will be held from the home Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with burial in Greenlawn.

Funeral of Mrs. Walburga Scherer

The funeral of Mrs. Walburga Scherer, one of the oldest and most highly regarded residents of Scioto county, who passed away at Mercy Hospital last Friday afternoon was held from St. Mary's church this morning at 8:30 o'clock, and was a very large and impressive one. The solemn requiem High mass was celebrated by Rev. T. A. Goebel assisted by Rev. H. J. Taske of Otway and George M. Vetter, a grand-son who is studying for the priesthood, who served as sub-deacon during the mass. The pall bearers were six grand-sons of the deceased, and were the sons of Mr. Martin Scherer. The funeral sermon was a most eloquent and fitting tribute to one who is sincerely mourned and whose long life had been devoted to her family and friends. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, attesting mutely to the high esteem in which this good woman was held. Hundreds of relatives, friends and acquaintances called at the home of Mrs. Sophie Vetter on Fifth street, with whom she made her home and where the body reposed in a blanket of flowers until time for the funeral services. A long line of automobiles followed the hearse to Greenlawn cemetery where all that was mortal of one of Portsmouth's highly honored residents was laid to rest.

Out of town relatives here for the funeral included two daughters of the deceased, Sister Walburga, night superintendent of Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus, and Sister Rosalie of South Bend, Indiana. A son, Rev. Father Joseph Scherer passed away about a year and a half ago.

SOCIETY

Coming as a climax to a week of social activities, was the studio tea on Saturday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 4:30 at the beautiful and artistic "Stahl Studio," 1547 Gallia street. Several hundred people called during the receiving hours to meet Charles Stewart Todd, of Cincinnati, master craftsman in batik art, and to admire the eighteen choice patterns he has had on display during the afternoon. The ornamental hangings were of Mr. Todd's finest compositions. They displayed a charm of design and richness of color which have to be seen to be appreciated. Batik is a craft which requires a great deal of skill in the handling of chemicals. The effects produced border on the marvelous and when in the hands of skilled artists like Mr. Todd can be likened only to the fairy beauty of the finest Oriental rugs. Mr. Todd is one of the designers at the Rookwood Pottery in Cincinnati, and his work received the first prize at the Ohio State Fair in 1921 and also at the Brooks Memorial Gallery in Memphis, Tenn.

Assisting in the hospitalities of the afternoon were a group of boys and girls who are members of the Art Craft Class and included Sara Ann Marting, Eleanor Ruggles, Mary Frances Jordan, Edith Bannon, Martha Peebles, Mariann Moore, Ruth Bryan, Howard Berndt, Richard Marting and Vernon Bratton.

The members of the Mysotis Club will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Marshall White on Highland avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hasselman, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Martin and daughter, Imogene, motored to Chillicothe to spend the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hasselman and to see "Abie's Irish Rose" at the Majestic Theatre.

Miss Georgia V. Keitzer, trimmer in Miss S. Farmer's millinery store on Gallia street, has returned from a ten days' stay in New York City and Cleveland, where she purchased a fall line of millinery for Miss Farmer's store.

Markin Is Fined

When Leonard Markin, arrested several days ago at the home of Stewart Young, at Fallen Timber, back of Lucasville, on a charge of posession of liquor, appeared in Municipal court today, he changed his plea to guilty and Judge Sprague imposed a fine of $100 and costs against him.

Markin convinced the court that he was not connected with the ownership of a liquor making outfit and liquor found at the house where he claimed he was merely a visitor. Young has not been apprehended.

Mrs. Barbara Kendall.

Joseph and Margaret Russ of Sciotoville left this morning for Hyde Park, Cincinnati to attend the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Barbara Kendall, who passed away at her home in that city Saturday, at the age of 90 years. Mrs. Kendall was a former resident of Sciotoville, and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Joseph Hartman of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Mary Slogman with whom she made her home. George Russ of Sciotoville will go to Cincinnati to attend the funeral tomorrow.

William L. Bennett

William L. Bennett, prominent Madison township farmer, died at his home two miles north of Minford early Monday morning when he succumbed to an attack of heart disease from which he had been ailing for several months.

Mr. Bennett, who was about 67 years old, was a native of Madison township and spent his entire life on the farm where he lived when he answered the final call. He was a most substantial citizen and his sudden passing will be sincerely regretted by a wide circle of friends. He was a life-long Democrat and always took an active interest in the affairs of his party. He was a relative of former commissioner William Bennett, who lives in the same community.

Mr. Bennett was married twice, and is survived by a widow and five children, three by a former marriage and two of the last marriage.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

Mrs. Anna E. Stout Crawford

Death at 1:30 this morning claimed Mrs. Anna E. Stout Crawford, widow of the late Noble Crawford, her death taking place at 1:30 this morning at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cropper of 1710 Sixth street. She had been ill ten days with pneumonia.

Mrs. Crawford, who was born in Lewis county, Kentucky, was 73 years old and is survived by two children: Mrs. Cropper and John of Cincinnati. She also leaves one sister, Mrs. Laura Sims of Campbell avenue and four brothers: John of Carrs, Ky., Arch of Cincinnati, Frank of Clinton, Iowa, and James of Kansas City.

Mrs. Crawford was well known in the city and leaves many friends to mourn her passing.

BARBARA HAENDEL

The Cincinnati Enquirer, Sunday said: Barbara Haendel (nee Russ), widow of George Haendel, Sr., died February 9, 1924, at the residence of her daughter, Mary E. Schlotman, 2035 Madison road, aged 91 years. Funeral from residence Tuesday, February 12, with requiem high mass at St. Anthony's church, Madisonville, 9 a. m. Survived by two daughters, Mary Schlotman and Mrs. Joe Hartman, of Detroit, Mich. Mother of the late George Haendel, Piqua, Ohio. Kindly omit flowers. (Piqua Dayton and Portsmouth papers please copy.)

Robert Carnahan.

John G. Long of 1807 Vinton avenue, was called to Fredericksburg, Virginia, Sunday by the death of his brother-in-law, Robert Carnahan, who passed away Saturday. No particulars were received of his death.

ALLEGED YEGGS ARE NABBED

CHILLICOTHE, O., Feb. 11—Lonnie Conners, 22, Nick Carter, 22 and W. H. Brown, 21, are the names given by three young men held in jail here on suspicion following their arrests last night and early this morning by local police. The young men will be held for several days as it is thought that they may be wanted in connection with safe blowing jobs and robberies in the southern part of the state. Police believe the arrests prevented a robbery or safe blowing job here.

A Jewett touring car showing hard usage was left parked on West Main street early Sunday morning. As it was still standing there at 7:30 Sunday evening J. P. Mahan, local business man suggested to a friend, James Keating, that the machine might have been stolen. They investigated and on looking under the back seat claim they found a bottle of nitro-glycerine wrapped in a rag, fuses, rubber gloves, spak, jimmy and chisels. They promptly notified the police and a squad of five officers headed by Dan Garrett and Jack Melvin were sent to investigate. They hid in Mahan's office and waited for the owners to come for the machine. About 8:30 two well dressed young men showed up and while they were replacing the distributor on the car the officers nabbed them. Both refused to talk. Conners being placed in the county jail and Carter in the city prison. Conners gives 1735 Virginia avenue, Huntington, as his address and Carter claims Pittsburgh as his home. Conners claims he owns the machine.

As five men had been reported in the machine the officers went back to Mahan's office and about 12:10 a. m. another young man showed up. He was nabbed and taken to the city prison. No trace has been found of the other two supposed to have been in the party.

Conners is under indictment for burglary in Huntington. Carter told officers to notify the U. S. marshal at Pittsburgh that he was under arrest as he would rather be in a Federal prison than a county jail. He would not say why he was wanted.

Pictures and finger prints of the three have been taken and are being sent to police in Southern Ohio and to Ashland and Huntington

Court House

Barden Concern Wins Suit

Judge Thomas handed down a decision Monday in the case of Three States Coal Company, Bluefield, W. Va., against Vernon Coal company. Barden, the court finding in favor of the defendant and awarded the Barden concern judgment for the sum of $120.24, with interest from July 11, 1922, as prayed for in its cross petition.

Plaintiff company brought suit for alleged breach of contract and claimed $1,991.04 damages for failure to deliver coal. Defendant admitted accepting an order for 15 cars of coal and then claimed if the contract was breached it was on the part of the plaintiff company in refusing to pay for coal shipped under the agreement.

Attorney B. F. Kipble for defendant company and Attorneys Miller and Searl for the Bluefield concern.

Seek Authority To Mortgage Lots

Authority of the Common Pleas Court to mortgage its real estate consisting of two lots situated in the village of Wheelersburg, is sought in an application filed in the office of the clerk of courts Monday, by the trustees of the Regular Baptist church of Wheelersburg, through Attorney B. F. Kimble.

The petitioners represent that the church is indebted for a part of the cost of erecting a manse on the real estate described in the sum of $5225 and that it is necessary to mortgage the real estate and procure necessary funds to pay the indebtedness.

Jones Will Filed

The will of Thomas Jones, deceased, was filed for probate Monday. Mr. Jones died at his home in this city on February 2 last and his will disposes of his estate with an estimated value of $10,000. He left his property to his immediate heirs.

Continued For Further Investigation

After hearing evidence offered by both sides in the case of Lawrence Swords, of Sprouse's Run, West Side, charged with selling liquor to Howard Bazler, Third street garage owner, on December 20, Squire Geo. S. Morgan, Monday continued the case for further investigation.

Bazler, the prosecuting witness, who has been quite active assisting in prosecuting liquor offenders since he was caught transporting liquor, testified that he bought several gallons of liquor from Swords under circumstances which caused the court to doubt his statement. The accused strenuously denied ever selling liquor to Bazler or anyone else.

Taken Into Custody

Ernest Gee, 17 years old, a youth living at 821 Campbell avenue, was taken into custody by county officers Monday and he is detained at the county jail to answer to a delinquency complaint in the Juvenile court, Tuesday.

Moore Denies Guilt

Pleading not guilty to a charge of possession of property designed for the manufacture of liquor when arraigned before Squire George S. Morgan, Monday, Alex Moore, Upper Twin Creek farmer, was released on $500 bond pending trial on Feb. 25.

Moore was taken into custody following the finding of mash barrels on his premises Saturday when a squad of dry officers visited that section. Through Attorney T. C. Beatty the accused disclaimed ownership of the mash barrels in question or knowledge of their presence on his property.

Convicts

Pieffer and Cox were nearby. They started on a run for the hole in the wall but were intercepted by 15 convicts who disarmed them, beat them and then shot the officers with their own guns. The prison yard became a battle ground as other prisoners and other guards joined in the fight. The guards concentrated near the gates and threatening the prisoners with the sawed off shot guns, ordered them to their cells. But the explosion had signalized an attempt to escape and with liberty in sight they were stubborn and showed fight. Even the prisoners in their cells added their voices to the confusion, shouting and beating on the walls and bars and crying defiantly to the guards in the tiers. A few of these convicts got loose but the guards met them hand to hand and threw them back into the cells.

When it became evident that the guards in the yards were not faring so well, a call for help went out to the city and the county and city officers were soon in the thick of the fight.

With this large force at his disposal, Warden Egan took command. He stationed the county detectives on the walls while guards and patrolmen took up the battle in the enclosure. The prisoners used pistols and anything else lying around loose. The officers, trained to handle such men, bore in and soon got the upper hand. The convicts were backed against one of the gray stone walls and after a brief hand to hand struggle the prisoners gave up. They were driven back to their cells and Warden Egan immediately called together the prison board so that the leaders of the revolt could be punished without delay.

Griffis

The captain o ftthe Albert Ballin, explaining the apparent miscarriage of the reception plans, said he had not been informed that a committee of welcome intended to take Griffis to shore.

Griffis, who posed for the photographers with an American flag in his hand and the Statue of Liberty as a background, refused to answer questions as to who was behind the plans to kidnap Bergdoll.

Asked whether the United States government was back of him, he said he did not want to discuss a question that might start an international controversy. He declared it was an "inspiration" that caused him to go into Germany after Bergdoll. Queried as to who financed the kidnapping expedition that had as part of its equipment of the motor car and a hired chauffeur, he said the trip didn't cost anything.

In telling of his experience in Germany he declared the Germans delayed his trial in order to keep him locked up as long as they could. Knowing that soon after he was sentenced he would be released on demand of the American government.

"I was never sent to the pen but kept in the Mossbach jail. The food was bad. The $500 I had on me when I was arrested was not returned to me. When I was freed, and I was ordered deported, they put me on the boat without a penny and the only clothes I had were those given me by my friends."

While in jail I was most of the time in virtual solitary confinement.

Griffis said he was glad he failed to kidnap Bergdoll for the reason that American patriotism runs higher with the draft dodger free than it would with Bergdoll in jail and forgotten.

About two thousand assembled outside the city hall and cheered Griffis as he entered with his mother and sister.

Will Ask The Government To Adopt Vigorous Foreign Policy

BY J. BART CAMPBELL

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 11—(Special)—Declaring that the rescue of the American farmers is dependent upon the economic rehabilitation of Germany, the Emergency Foreign Policy Committee was launched here today with the avowed purpose of compelling the government to adopt a vigorous foreign policy through which it believes peace and prosperity can be restored to Europe.

A moratorium for Germany, with reasonable reparation payments, evacuation of the Ruhr, opposition to increasing military rivalries, support of the republican form of government in Germany and appropriations for starving populations are the chief policies to be advocated by this organization.

Sharp issue is taken with the policy of President Coolidge and a number of farm organizations that northwestern farmers can be saved by government or private financial aid.

According to an announcement today, any such help would be of doubtful and at best temporary value, the founders of the organization contending that until Europe, and particularly Germany, is stabilized the farmers of this country will continue to suffer, with possible collapse of agriculture seen as one of the grave eventualities.

United States Senators and Representatives, individuals of national standing and leaders of farmers' labor and women's organizations are members of the National Committee, say its leaders.

They declare that the movement is being backed by Senator Lynn J. Frazier, of North Dakota; Senator Robert B. Howell, of Nebraska; Senator Magnus Johnston, of Minnesota; Senator Edwin F. Ladd, of North Dakota and Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, and Representatives J. D. Beck and Edward Coigt, of Wisconsin; Oscar E. Keller and Knud Wefald, of Minnesota; John M. Evans, of Montana; Edgar Howard, of Nebraska; J. H. Sinclair, of North Dakota, and John M. Nelson, of Wisconsin.

The program of the committee, its founders declare, has been endorsed by Walter L. Fisher, of Yale University; Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, formerly minister to China; Norman Hapgood, former minister to Denmark and editor of a nationally known magazine; Zona Gale, author and Edward A. Ross, of the University of Wisconsin.

Still others who are said to have given the movement promises of their support are Mary E. McDowell, commissioner of public welfare of Chicago; Mrs. James W. Morrison, treasurer Illinois League of Women Voters, of Chicago; Agnes Kestor, president Chicago Women's Trade Union League; Dr. Charles S. Sheldon, former president American Academy of Medicine, Madison, Wis.; John F. Sinclair, banker, Minneapolis, in addition to leaders of a number of farm and labor organizations.

"American has compelling moral and economic interest in the restoration of the Europe," declared Basil M. Manley, treasurer of the committee, and also executive secretary of the People's Legislative Service, an organization maintained in the interest of Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin, in a statement announcing the object of the new organization.

"The acute suffering of our farmers and other important groups of export producers will be immediately and materially alleviated by a check to militarism and disintegration in Europe and improvement of European purchasing power," he added.

"The American Foreign Policy Committee of American Producers urges the immediate adoption by the American government of a vigorous foreign policy destined to fulfill America's obligations resulting from the war aims and the terms of the armistice, and thus to restore peace and prosperity to Europe.

"This policy should embrace the establishment of reparations within the capacity of Germany to pay, with France if possible without France if necessary, and a reasonable moratorium to enable Germany to stabilize her government and industry."

Mr. Manley accompanied Senator LaFollette on his recent visit to Europe, when he gave close study to the economic situation in Germany and other states that have not recovered from the effects of the war.

Since the promoters of the newly-formed organization are in the main supporters of Senator LaFollette, it is believed that its program has his full approval.

Senator LaFollette was one of the irreconcilable group that resisted this country's entrance into the League of Nations and he has consistently opposed any interference by the American government in the tangled affairs of Europe.

The Wisconsin Senator is now being accused by his critics of attempting to bring about the entry of the United States into Europe by way of Germany and Russia, although he was one of the principal opponents to the Woodrow Wilson idea of American participation in the League of Nations by way of France and England.

Leaking Gas Causes Fire

Fire, supposed to have been caused by a leaky gas connection caused several hundred dollars damage to the two story five room frame dwelling owned and occupied by William Erwin, Fifth and Broadway this morning about 10:45 o'clock. Fireman from the Hilltop and East End stations used two lines of hose to extinguish the flames which caused considerable damage to the rear part of the second story and roof. It is estimated that damage to the dwelling and contents will be less than $500. Mr. Edwin has insurance on the house. Considerable of the furniture was carried out of the downstairs rooms.

Hazelback will insure you.

Sweeping

Navy department officials made public the changes without comment, but it was indicated that they had been made with a view of eliminating such friction as has developed at Lakehurst.

Orders directed to Commander McCrary said that "upon being relieved by Lieutenant Commander Zachary Lansdowne, as commanding officer of the U. S. S. Shenandoah, you will regard yourself detached from all duties aboard that airship."

Commander McCrary, who has been in Chicago was also ordered relieved from that command and "detached from all present duties." Orders are expected assigning him to sea duty.

Commander J. H. Klein also was ordered "detached from all duties on the Shenandoah and as executive officer of the naval station at Lakehurst." He will assume command of the Lakehurst station. In addition, Commander Klein was assigned to additional duty under training in rigid airships and informed that his existing designation as a student naval aviator will remain in force.

Sun-Times Team Roll Into Third Place In Bowling Tournament In Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 11—Starting off poorly, then recovering with a whoop and finishing with ordinary speed the Sun-Times team shot a total of 2404 for third place in the Printers' Tri-State Tourney here this morning.

In the opening game some of the boys were a trifle nervous but they overcome this timidity and made history in the sandwich game. They will roll their doubles and singles this afternoon.

The scores:
Roberts: 124-171-181—476.
Coe: 134-167-142—433.
Spetnagle: 130-187-176—493.
Flynn: 122-167-114—403.
Sheridan: 219-204-174—597.
Total: 720-888-789—2404.

Man's Head, Arm, Hand, Pair of Legs Are Found In a Car of Cinders

STEUBENVILLE, O., February 11.—(By the Associated Press)—A man's head, one arm, one hand and a pair of legs were found by workmen who were engaged in emptying a cinder car in the Pennsylvania railroad yards at Weirton, W. Va., near here this afternoon.

The head was that of a white man, apparently an American, but has not been identified.

The cinder car has been in the Weirton yards for a month and came from Pittsburgh.

Whether the parts of the body were placed in the car at Pittsburgh, somewhere en route or at Weirton has not been determined. Two men have been missing from Weirton for two weeks and authorities think one of them may be the victim.

THIS FIRPO, HE IS A NICE LI'L BOY! YES HE IS!!

The good Senor Firpo has a curious sense of gratitude.

The news dispatches announce that he has passed up Tex Rickard and signed with a "cloak and suit" syndicate to meet Harry Wills, giant colored man, next summer.

No one will blame Firpo for getting as much as he can for his services. The fight racket is a dog-eat-dog proposition. But Rickard was pretty nice to the South American last year. He took him when he was unknown and just about penniless and gave him work.

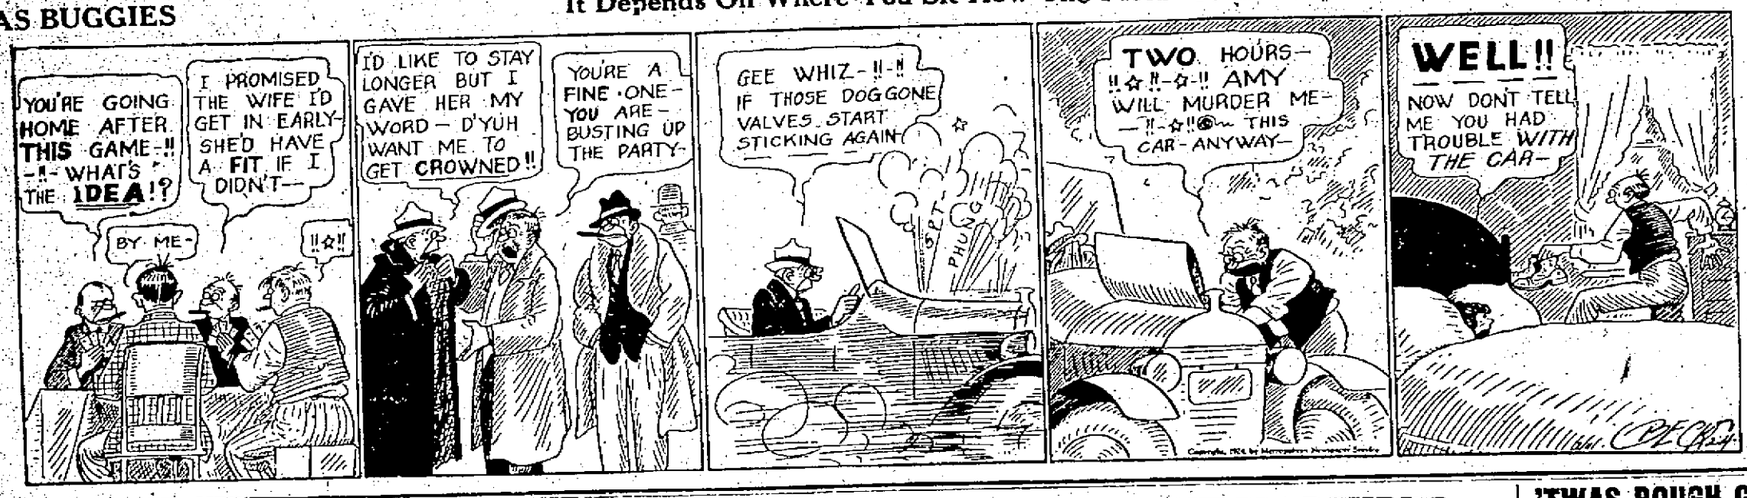

Rickard was one of the few men who believed in Firpo. Firpo was generally ridiculed as an opponent for Dempsey, but Rickard went through with the match in the face of widespread hostile criticism and it was a big success.

Rickard assured Firpo he would "duplicate any legitimate offer" other promoters made for a Wills match. Firpo cabled Rickard in reply, "You are too late."

First Year In Big Ten Cunningham Leads Scorers

COLUMBUS, O., February 11.—At an age when most youths are just beginning to get accustomed to long trousers, "Cookie" Cunningham, center on Ohio State's basketball team, is leading the Big Ten in individual scoring.

Although it is his first season and despite the fact that he is only 18 years of age, Cuningham is well in the van among the individual scorers. What makes his achievement all the more remarkable is that he has played in fewer games than some of his rivals and is playing in a new position.

As the star player on the Mt. Vernon, (O.) high school basketball quintet several years ago Cunningham held down a guard job. Playing in the national tournament at Chicago in 1922 he was hailed as an All-American interscholastic player.

Following the close of the 1923 football season in which he won his "O" as an end on Ohio State's eleven, Cunningham turned out for basketball and immediately made good at center.

In five Big Ten contests Cunningham has tallied 66 points. In 10 games so far this season he has registered 177 points.

Cunningham stands 6 feet 2½ inches and weighs 185 pounds.

LOSES LEGS UNDER C. & O. TRAIN

ASHLAND, Ky., Feb. 11.—A young man riding the fast freight which passes through Denton at 8:20 a. m., attempted to jump from the train and was thrown beneath the wheels. Both legs were ground and crushed and it is thought that his chances for life is in the balance. Denton is about twenty-five miles from Ashland, on the C. & O.

Following the accident he was brought through to the Huntington hospital where it was learned that his name was Quincy D. Hicks, aged 20 and married. He is a private in the U. S. Army, located at Langley Field, Va., and attached to the Fifty-eighth squadron from Norfolk, Va.

ASHLAND HI JINXED BY OHIO TEAMS

From the Ashland Independent: The tide of defeat, and the jinx of Ohio teams over Ashland's net quintets suddenly turned its course at the high school gymnasium here last evening when the Ashland High Tomcats, fighting with an irresistible determination, throughout, overwhelmed New Boston, high, 40 to 7.

The Cats got away to a fast start, found their long-lost shooting eyes, and literally swept their opponents off their feet by caging goals in rapid succession. For the greater part of the first half, the Tomcats completely outplayed the Ohio boys, rarely allowing them a shot at the basket, and when the halfway mark was reached a peep at the score board found the count 20 to 1, Tomcats. Early in the second half the sensational shot of the evening was made. Throwing from a twisted position with two men hanging over him and swinging the ball over his head as if attempting to pass to a nearby player, "Hoose" Wolfrey did the impossible by caging a phenomenal basket from the sidelines. The ball sped on a line with apparently no chance of ever reaching the basket. It hit the side rim, a luck cut, and fell through in the manner of a ball dropped from the ceiling.

The lineups and scores:

TOMCATS		NEW BOSTON
Lyons (8)	F	(1) Stratton
Nathon (4)	F	2) Benter
VanHorne 8)	C	Staten
F. Phipps (5)	G	(2) Bartlett
Franz (3)	G	(2) Deemer

Substitutions: Tomcats, Lee (3), T. Phipps (2), Wolfrey (2), Ellis (5).

For New Boston: Levine for Bartlett, York for Deemer.

'TWAS ROUGH GAME

The Portsmouth College of Business five met defeat by a 33 to 4 score when they played in the Glenwood high school gym at New Boston Saturday night with the New Boston Selects. The Business College five claims they met a real football team in the Selects with Counts and Lett trying hardest for "touchdowns." During the last quarter the Business College five wanted to call off the game on account of unfairness but played it out to give the fans a full time game for their money. Marvin Kelly of Glenwood high was the referee. The Business College five used S. Lewis and Saddler as forwards, Brodbeck, center, Spencer and Muller, guards. The New Boston Selects used H. Lewis and B. Counts as forwards, N. Lett, center, and O. Fitch and R. Elliott, guards.

RISING PRICES MARK TRADING ON WALL STREET

Bonds Irregular; On Advance

NEW YORK, N. Y., February 11.—The bond market was irregular in today's early dealings with a slight upward tendency. Trading was quiet. The advance in low priced railroad mortgages was resumed, gains of a point or more being recorded by some of the speculative favorites. Independent steel bonds, influenced by reports of increased tonnage, displayed strength. Numerous gains also were made by public utilities issues. Price movements in the foreign bonds were mixed, with a preponderance of losses.

Mexican bonds again were active, but French municipals lost ground. Considerable speculation was aroused in bond circles as to the terms of the forth-coming Japanese loan when advices were received from London indicating that the issue there would bear six per cent coupons to sell at 87½.

Unfilled Orders Of Steel Strengthens Market

NEW YORK, N. Y., February 11.—Stock prices moved irregularly higher in today's market which exhibited a holiday atmosphere. Speculative activity on the long side was confined largely to a few specialties and a selected assortment of standard industrials, the net gains being of a moderate character. The close was irregular. Sales approximated 750,000 shares.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Rising prices characterized the opening of the new week in the stock market. Unexpectedly large increase in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation brought a large volume of week end buying orders into the market. Central Leather preferred advanced 1,3-4 and U. S. Realty and International Telephone each climbed 1.

Early buying orders were fairly well distributed with the independent steels, sugars, oils and low priced rails giving the best exhibition of group strength. Gains of a point or so were recorded by Republic and Vanadium Steels, Marland, American Radiator, Cuban Cane preferred, Reading, New York Central and American Tobacco.

National Enameling was one of the few weak spots dropping 1-14. Foreign exchanges opened lower.

New highs for the year were established by International Telephone, Wells Fargo Express, and Fisher Body, the last named jumping 4 1-2 points. Gains of 1 1-2 to 3 1-2 points were recorded by Congoleum, Otis Elevator, Lorillard Tobacco and Commercial Solvent A. National Enameling extended its loss to nearly 2 1-2 points and General Electric dropped 2, while Studebaker, Corn Products, Pan American Petroleum, Maracobin Oil and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe sold a point or more below Saturday's final quotations. Call money opened at 4 1-4 per cent.

Curb Quiet; Oils Reactionary

NEW YORK, N. Y., February 11.—Business on the curb exchange today was generally quiet and only a few stocks moved over a range wide enough to demand attention. Chesbro Mfg. and Swan and Finch continued prominent, being exceptionally strong and again moving up to new high records. Other Standard Oil issues were reactionary. Prairie Oil showed a loss of 4 points in the early trading but rallied fro mits low level of the last half of the day. Vacuum Oil which was a strong feature for a time early in the past week, continued its reaction falling about one point in the early forenoon and then had a moderate rally. Changes in other petroleum issues were small and generally to lower levels.

Don't Play "Grab-Bag" With Your Future!

Childhood's game of "grab-bag"—where one is allowed to thrust his hand into a bag of knick-nacks and select something at blind random—is not a game which grown-ups will find profitable.

It is unthinkable that a person of serious purpose should reach blindly forward to make random selection of the things which shape one's career.

And it's as unnecessary as it is unthinkable! Always the A-B-C Classified Section is instantly available—and in it are instantly available just the opportunities you need in the building of your future.

There's nothing remotely resembling blind choice here. Every group of offers is numerically classified—every single opportunity is alphabetically indexed.

Instantly you can find just what you want!

Escapes "Speed Cop", Hits Street Car; Suffers Fractured Skull

In an effort to escape from New Boston traffic officers, Joseph Kelley, about 52, of 509 Campbell avenue, sustained a fractured skull and fractured ankle when his machine and a street car crashed Sunday evening at 7:15 on Walnut street, between Plum and Chestnut streets. Kelley is in Mercy hospital in a serious condition. He was unconscious from the time of the accident last night until this morning. Early today his condition appeared to be better, but later in the day his condition was reported not as good.

According to New Boston traffic officers, Arthur Oakes and B. F. Walker, the Kelley machine, a Buick four, passed them on Rhodes avenue below West and was traveling about 45 miles per hour. Walker was driving the motorcycle and Oakes was in the side car. The officers claim they overtook Kelley before he reached the corporation line and that after they got ahead of him in the next square they had him slowed down to between 35 and 40 miles. The motorcycle officers kept ahead of Kelley and kept slowing down and claim they signalled for him to stop, but that he kept coming on.

It is thought that he turned to the left into the middle of the street to shoot around and get ahead of the traffic machine. Mr. Kelley evidently miscalculated the speed of a street car coming east, for he had just driven onto the track when the car and machine came together.

The left front part of the machine hit the left front part of the street car. The street car pushed the machine a short distance east from where they came together and when the street car crew, Motorman William Kinker and Conductor E. A. Lemasters and others got to the wrecked machine the driver was in a heap under the steering wheel.

The unconscious form was carried into the Joe Sharp home and Drs. Oscar Micklethwaite and Albert Berndt were called. Lynn's ambulance removed Kelley to the hospital, where an examination showed a fracture of the skull near the left temple and a fracture of the right ankle.

Mr. Kelley is employed by a local contracting firm and is well known in the city. His machine was badly wrecked in the collision.

Traffic Officer Oakes stated this morning that a charge of speeding had been filed against Mr. Kelley in Mayor V. R. Bierley's court.

Will Continue To Use N. & W. Lines

The Chesapeake and Ohio Northern Railway company will not build its own line from Waverly to Valley Crossing, just this side of Columbus. This was stated definitely Monday as the C. & O. N. has just entered into an agreement to use the N. & W. lines from Waverly to Valley Crossing for 99 years.

A contract to this effect has been drawn and is expected to be signed in a day or two by N. & W. and C. & O. N. officials. The C. & O. N. have their own line to Waverly and had been figuring on extending it to connect with other coal carrying roads entering Columbus and connecting with the Great Lakes, but the plan has been entirely abandoned.

Death Claims Clay Varner Sanford

Clay Varner Sanford, for many years a highly honored citizen of Portsmouth, passed away Saturday evening at the home of his father, A. L. Sanford, who lives at Ryland, Ky., near Covington. Mr. Sanford's friends here were not aware of his illness, and the news of his death came as a cruel blow to them. He was formerly identified with the wholesale clothing firm of Sanford, Storrs and Varner of Cincinnati, and before going to the Queen City he was a member of the clothing firm of Sanford and Varner of this city. In addition to his father he leaves a wife and three children: Louis, Stephanie and Clay Woodman. His brother, the late Lon Sanford, died 12 years ago.

Despite the fact that Mr. Sanford left Portsmouth 25 years ago he still had many friends here who will be pained to learn of the passing of genial, affable and companionable Clay Sanford.

For several years he had been identified with an advertising firm in Cincinnati and gave it the same enthusiastic attention as he did the clothing business for over 35 years.

The body will be brought to Portsmouth Tuesday noon.

MR. EDWARD HUBAR, Steubenville, O.

It is often asked if it is not difficult to secure voluntary testimonials for any remedy, no matter how much good it is doing. As a matter of fact very many testimonials are received in each city where Ka-di-ok, the new herbal stomach remedy is being introduced, and those are selected which are written with a genuine desire to benefit other fellow sufferers.

This was what prompted Mr. Edward Huber, who lives at 715 Buckeye street, Steubenville, Ohio, glass worker at Gill Brothers Glass Works, having been in their employ for over thirty years, to make the following statement. He said:

"I had been a sick man for the past two years—just able to drag around and keep at work. My stomach was in bad shape and my food soured and caused me to suffer from indigestion. I had frequent spells of dizziness and would have to catch hold of something to prevent myself from falling; my liver and kidneys were in bad condition and I was sleepless and nervous. I had no appetite and felt weak and miserable. I tried many remedies, but they did not help me until I began to use Ka-di-ok. It helped me from the first day I used it. I now have taken two bottles and can truthfully say that my stomach does not bother me at all. I have been eating anything I want without any bad effects afterwards and have had no dizzy spells. My kidney trouble has almost disappeared, and I am a better man today than I have been for the past two years. I unhesitatingly endorse Ka-di-ok and gladly recommend it."

Ka-di-ok can be obtained in Portsmouth at Fisher & Streich Drug store.

Creditors Take Over Rosenthal Store

S. Rosenthal, who has been conducting a ladies' ready-to-wear store in the Jones building at Eighth and Chillicothe streets for several years, Monday turned the store over to creditors, who have placed Simon Lehman in charge of it.

The stock is being inventoried and after this work is completed the creditors will close out the business through a series of sales.

Mr. Rosenthal was engaged in business in Catlettsburg before coming to Portsmouth.

Taken to Hospital

Edward Eggers was taken from his home, 1220 Young street to Hempstead hospital in Emrick's ambulance this morning. He is suffering with ptomaine poison.

On the Mend

Miss Clarice Reeg, who recently underwent an operation in Hempstead hospital, and who has been in a serious condition for several days, was reported slightly improved Monday.

To Visit Relatives

Mrs. Marjorie Stevens of 1214 Kendall avenue, who has been quite ill, left this morning for Thornton, Ky., for a visit to relatives. She was removed from her home to the C. & O. train in Richards' ambulance.

Buy New Home

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Caudill who recently purchased J. E. Shump's new six room bungalow in Hill Crest, West Portsmouth, are moving into their new home. Mr. Caudill is an employe of the Wheeling Steel Corporation.

Building Bungalows

Work on the two five room bungalows, being built in City View, West Portsmouth by James Waldo and and Thomas Goldfinch, is progressing rapidly.

NEARING COMPLETION

George Carroll's new seven room Bungalow in Hill Crest, West Portsmouth is nearing completion. Mr. and Mrs. Carroll will occupy it when completed.

Justus Injured In Fall

Charles Justus, secondhand dealer, Twelfth and Gay streets, is in Mercy hospital suffering from a severe injury to his spine which he sustained in a fall down a flight of stairs at the St. Clair hotel, Tenth and Waller streets, shortly after eight o'clock Sunday night.

Soon after the accident Justus was sent to his home in a semiconscious condition but later he was removed to the hospital when an examination by Dr. Oscar Micklethwaite revealed that he had been badly hurt.

Chief Roms Arthur stated today that his investigation of the accident indicated that Justus was intoxicated at the time and that his plunge down the flight of stairs at the hotel was wholly due to Justus' losing his footing as a result of his intoxicated condition.

Justus had just reached the top step of the stairs when he suddenly fell backwards and plunged down the stairs. His wife and another couple had gone to the St. Clair Hotel for supper. Justus was reported slightly improved today.

Community Chest Bulletin

Subsequent to the time the Community Chest campaign was brought to our notice there has been prepared and published each day a reference to this activity. During these several weeks, I have touched on most every phase of our community life that bring with it the need of social service which is intended by the co-related interest to which the Budget Committee has agreed as essential in caring for the agencies administering to those in need of such attention.

I want, at this time, to express my appreciation for the interest those in charge of The Times and Sun have given to the publication of these references and such other reports that have been given over to them and in turn thank the contributors for having stamped their approval to this cause by their subscriptions and most generous co-operation.

It is possible that everything has been written that should have been brought to attention, yet it does seem that there are those which have not given the subject the thought that others have and perhaps do not care to pursue the question further.

In closing, without doubt, it should be said that what I have written was stated with the very highest motive in mind and not in the least intended to be in any way critiicising, and if in instances they have so impressed one, those words will be self-evident of no such intention.

The records are now all complete and publications will continue from time to time as space may become available. Payments are coming in very regular. The office in the Chamber of Commerce rooms is open throughout every business day, from seven to five, where contributions may be made and additional subscriptions entered.

Respectfully submitted,
ADAM FRICK.

GUS ESARES FAMILY AND FRIENDS IN CAR THAT TURNS TURTLE

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Esares, 4075 Rhodes avenue, New Boston, Mrs. Chris Malavazos and two children and her sister, Mrs. Mary Jantels of 617 Fifth street, had narrow escapes from serious injury Sunday afternoon when the Ford sedan in which they were riding turned upside down on Scioto Trail near Sargents. Mrs. Esares sustained severe bruises and the others escaped with a severe shaking up.

Mr. Esares was driving and had just turned around at Sargents and stated towards Portsmouth, when a nut on a bolt in the steering apparatus dropped off, making it impossible to control the machine.

The N. & W. tracks along this part of the road are on a bank about ten feet higher than the road. The machine started up the side of this bank and flopped over landing on its top at the bottom of the bank. According to Mr. Esares, the gasoline started pouring into the machine. After getting outside Mr. Esares helped the others out. They were later brought to their homes by a passing motorist.

The car was owned by Mr. Esares. Both front wheels were broken, a left rear fender crumpled, rear bumper damaged, body dented and holes torn in the roof. No glass was broken. The Universal wrecker brought the car to Portsmouth.

NEXT WAR

INVENTORS continue busily in their laboratories, making deadlier and deadlier war devices.

Many of the leading weapons of the World War already are as old-fashioned and obsolete as the blunderbuss, according to revelations at a military banquet in New York.

For instance, our government has perfected a bomb weighing 4000 pounds, to be carried by airplanes. This is 10 times as big as the largest bomb used in the World War. It contains a ton of high explosives and makes a crater in the ground 57 feet deep and 150 feet across.

Another American invention is an armored caterpillar tractor with a speed of 30 miles an hour. It goes up a 45-degree slope easily, and can travel through water up to the driver's chin.

The famous "French 75" gun is eclipsed by a new American gun of the same caliber, but twice the range or shooting distance.

Shoulder machine guns are taking the place of regular rifles. They fire bullets four times as heavy and send them three times as far as the Browning gun.

So goes the list of destroyers. Poison gases have been perfected since the Armistice, many times more deadly than the worst gases used during the World War.

The people of the world should give serious thought to the fact that, while one faction of our leaders works to prevent another big war, another faction is toiling night-and-day to perfect more deadly devices of warfare.

The "next war"—if there is one—will be frightful beyond imagination, far worse than the World War. Every country goes ahead preparing, and its abili is: "I have to, as long as the others do." Co-operation to prevent a recurrence of slaughter must come in some form.

There isn't any payday for laboring under a delusion.

We have prosperity, but not enough of it to go around.

If you don't know where they get bootleg—they get it in the neck.

A woman can't make a fool out of a man without his help.

Politics makes strange bedfellows and strange bred fellows.

Very few good clerks can use a typewriter or write shorthand.

Only way to end divorce is by marrying your second wife first.

Lloyd George wants them to let George do it again.

It is estimated the energy wasted in useless criticism would fill about 999 giant balloons.

Twenty-Four Years Ago

The Ohio river was frozen at Pittsburgh and Parkersburg and was full of ice from the latter point down.

A water pipe bursted on the fourth floor of Connolly's dry goods store and resulted in heavy damage to the stock of merchandise in the floors below. George Wurster, on his way home late at night, discovered the minature "flood."

Otto Zoellner and Bro. moved into their new jewelry store erected by Ph. Zoellner at 93 West Second street.

George W. Sheppard, of Vernon township, was in town sounding out the politicians in reference to his candidacy for county recorder.

DIES OF SHOCK

DUBLIN—Mrs. Mary Hanrahan died from the shock of hearing the death sentence pronounced on William Devereux for the murder of his sister-in-law with a hatchet. Mrs. Hanrahan, one of the principal witnesses at the trial, was taken ill when the judge passed sentence and died soon afterward.

LET'S LIGHT UP!

LONDON—Well, boys, we can keep on smoking our fags.

Thirty cigarets don't produce any more nicotine in our blood than one cigar, according to a well known London physician.

Twenty "pills," says this good kind doctor, however, puts 5 per cent of our blood out of play. But 50 can be consumed without any noticeable result, for our syatems, by the time we get around to No. 50, have developed an attitude of tolerance.

ARTISTIC BOOTBLACK

PARIS—One of the bootblacks on the boulevards now uses a palette when shining or cleaning women's shoes.

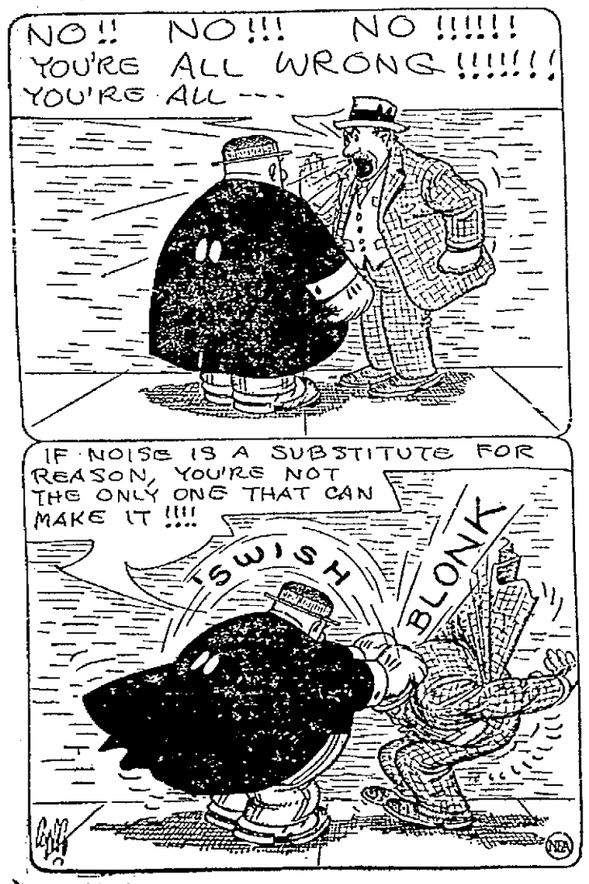

The Parisian woman's shoes vary so much in color that the bootblack found it difficult to get the right hue of boot cream to match.

So on his palette he puts a number of different creams and mixes them up when occasion demands.

EVERETT TRUE — BY CONDO

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 11—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Early up to oil my high hat to attend a church wedding and then home to breakfast with my mother-in-law, a sainted soul, and we had a fine contentful talk.

Afterward came Karl Harriman, the Chicago magazine editor. Laboured awhile but with little zeal and so out again and to see Paul Whiteman, the bandman, and we matched pennies with as much enthusiasm as heavy plungers at Monte Carlo.

At noon to the docks to say farewell to Frazier Hunt who returns to London and carried a bouquet for Mistress Emmy. Walked across town to the newspaper where I used to toil, but nearly all the old faces gone save Jack, the printing foreman, who swears as delightfully as ever.

To dinner at W. Emmerich's with my wife and came Grace Moore, the singer. Jack Baragwanath and Neysa McMein, Robert Benchley, Phil Boyer, Mrs. Lydig Hoyt and Nora Bayes. So home and to bed.

The East Side is in the throes of a wild delicatessen war. Oy! Oy! They are going to fight it out of it takes all "weiner." It began with a delicatessener on Clinton street giving away a blue china plate with each hot dog. Competitors began giving even handsomer souvenirs. Another hired a jazz band and now many delicatessen shops roar with trombones. On the East Side the delicatessen shop is the open forum. Here the blood pressure of the radicals reaches the highest notch. Epigrams and philosophy are served with salami and bologna. It was in these ill-lighted little places that Trotzky began his initial swashbuckling.

In one of the little Kosher shops of the East Side I saw a picturesque figure. He had a genial paunch, urbane manner and neatly pointed beard. His Homberg hat was at a rakish angle and his cigarette was gold-tipped. His spats were snow white and cane gold knobbed. I thought him some prince perhaps side-stepping a revolt back home. He proved to be the proprietor of a flock of portable sandwich stands that are "peoned" to street venders. Another little lesson in "You never can tell."

The delicatessen shops have first and second class arrangements. First class patrons are permitted to sit at bare tables and be served by waiters. Second class stand at counters along the wall and wait upon themselves. The second class price is about one-third cheaper. The East Side is thrifty. I saw a young man and his lady enter a shop. He seated his lady and stood at the counter himself. The waiters in delicatessens are rately tipped more than five cents.

A Mah Jong school has opened up in East Sixty-Third street. Fashionable New York is for a time deserting bridge tables to learn to kang, to chow and to pung. The game is excellently adapted to very high stakes and is aiding wealthy social idlers in their search for thrills.

There is the fascination of a loose tooth in watching an iron worker on the fourteenth story of a new building across the way. Despite a high wind he stands up every half hour or so and stretches as nonchalantly as a street laborer swings a pick. Once he swayed dizzily and fell astraddle the beam, but arose again to finish the stretch.

I wonder what a man would think about enroute if he were to fall 14 stories. There are curious reactions facing death. Once I sank for the last time while bathing in a river. My last conscious thought was to wonder if grandma would have cream gravy with the steak for dinner. Always the gourmet.

The Gateman

At a street where crowds go by,
And automobiles run on high,
I stand as Guardian of the Gates
To save the careless from their fates.

I drop the gates, I wave my hand
In silent token of command
That every one from first to last
May pause, until the train is past.

Some thank me for my kindly care,
Some scowl, while others curse and swear,

—Joe Steinbour ert?" queried his wife.

But whether I be blessed or curs'd
I will always insist on Safety First.

He Was Right

"Is there anything more exasperating than to have a wife who can cook but won't do it?" asked one man of another.

"Yes, indeed," said the other. "To have one that can't cook and will do it."

It Was For Sale

"What are you taking for your cold?" asked a friend of another.

"Make me an offer," was the instant reply.

Superficial Demonstration

"Your boy Josh seems to have taken a sudden interest in running the farm."

"Don't pay no 'tention to him," whispered Farmer Corntossel. "His mother's ambitious for him to go into politics. He's only tryin' to fool the public."

Did His Best

Magistrate—"Last time you were here I told you I hoped never to see you again."

Delinquent—"Yes, sir, I know, sir—but I couldn't get the constable to believe me!"—The Tappet.

Home Is Where You Find More Berries on the Shortcake

When we call short cake shortcake,
We surely pull a fake;
It's always short on berries,
But never short on cake.
—Mack Sauer in Columbus Dispatch

Classified Himself

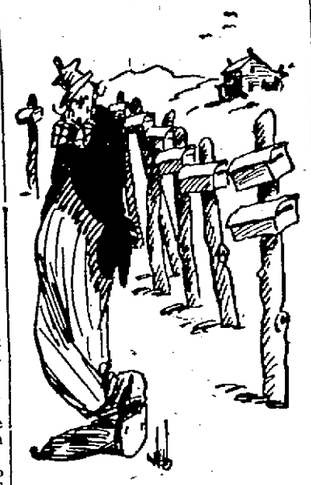

A little fellow aged five arrived home from school while the family were all at lunch table. With a disgusted look on his face he said:

"Say, ma, some of the kids in our class didn't know how to spell 'sarcastic'"

"Well, dear," replied his mother, "how do you spell it?"

"Me?" he asked. "Oh, I was one of them."

AIN'T IT A GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELING — BY BRIGGS

Didn't Hit It Right

The husband arrived home much later than usual "from the office." He took off his boots and stole into the bedroom. His wife began to stir. Quickly the panic-stricken man went to the cradle of his first-born and began to rock it vigorously.

"What are you doing there, Robert?" queried his wife.

"I've been sitting here for nearly two hours trying to get this baby to sleep," he growled.

"Why, Robert, I've got him here in bed with me," replied his wife.

Unhappy Ending

Crawford—Some of the old writers depended on liquor to give them the inspiration to write their masterpieces.

Crabshaw—That theory might account for the queer books being produced nowadays. Some of the hooch has terrible effects.—Judge.

An Extract

The town of Scarlet Gulch, though only a mushroom mining center, cherished an ambition to be known as more sophisticated than New York, and more prosperous than a Hollywood movie star. Accordingly, one day the following item appeared in the Weekly Hullabaloo:

"Our old friend Bill Weed came down off his claim in the hills the other day with two suitcases full of gold nuggets. Bill sat down on the hotel steps and when he looked up he saw a stranger beating it off with his suitcases. Bill took another puff at his seegar and said:

"'Oh, hell, let him go. My fess's sore.'"

Had Seen It Before

He took her hand in his and gazed proudly at the engagement ring he had placed on her finger only three days before.

"Did your friends admire it?" he inquired, tenderly.

"They did more than that," she replied, coldly, "two of them recognized it."

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

Salesmanship

BY BERTON BRALEY

THOUGH the gift of gab is good to grab
The ear of a possible buyer,
And a stock of charm can do no harm
And is valuable to acquire;
You can lack 'em all if the buyers fall
for the goods you sell, be heck,
If you make 'em sign on the dotted line
And hand you a certified check!

THOUGH your selling talk be a thing to mock
And your manner be wrong as well,
You needn't mind if you only find
You sell what you've got to sell.
Though theorists jeer when your words they hear,
Don't worry, you're still on deck
If the buyers sign on the dotted line
And hand you a certified check.

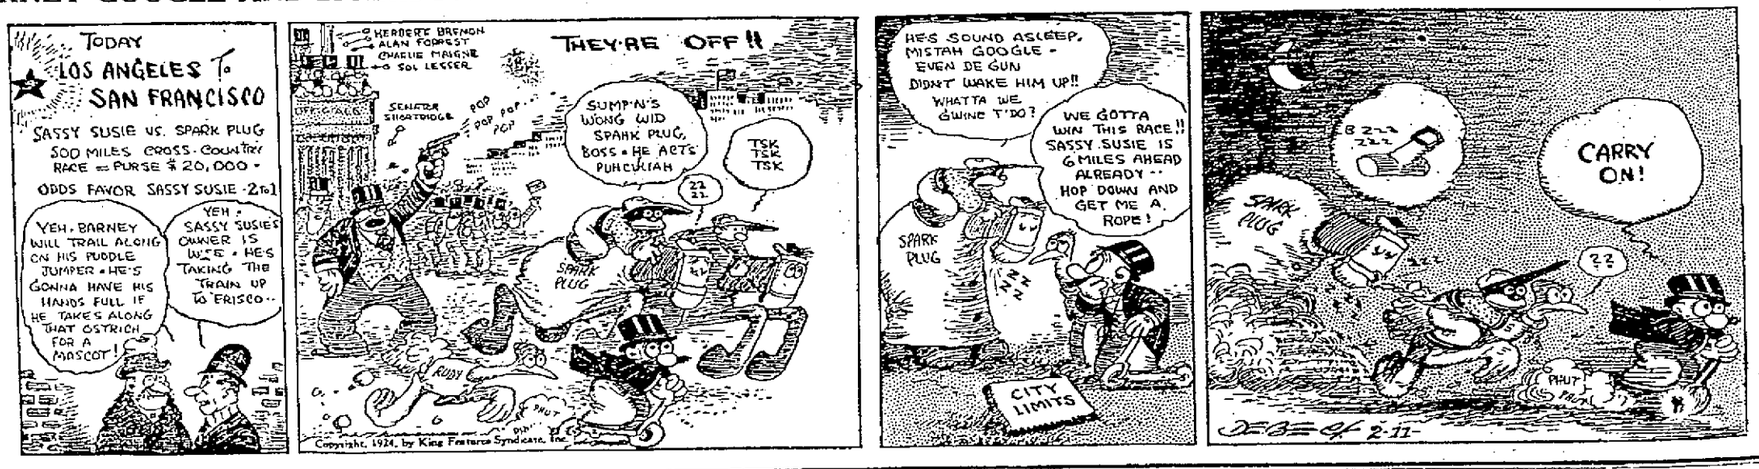

IN any old game it is just the same,
A fact which you can't deny,
That method is best by actual test
Which causes the world to buy.
If it's understood that the goods are good,
That salesman is best, by heck,
Who "makes 'em sign on the dotted line"
An hand him a certified check.
